Democrats List Their Demands On Tax Relief

By The Associated Press
Gov. Romney must recommend more money for schools and change his proposals on senior citizen tax relief if he wants Democratic support for his tax reform program, two top Democrats said Thursday night.

They said he also must enable Detroit to recover the $9.5 million to $11.75 million a year City Controller Alfred M. Peiham says it will lose under the Romney program.

Then Romney must offer his program on an all-or-nothing basis, said State Sen. Charles N. Blomdy, Senate Democratic leader, and Rep. Joseph J. Kowalski, House Democratic leader.

"If the (tax reform) bills are not hinged together, we may not get tax reform at all," said Kowalski.

In a joint interview, the two legislative leaders said the governor must sponsor legislation that will bring more income to state colleges and universities as well as primary and secondary education systems.

Salary Cut Suggested

He also must eliminate a lien provision in his plan to give property tax relief to low-income senior citizens, they said.

The lien and school property tax relief measures in the governor's program have come in for repeated criticism in hearing across the state by Romney and the Senate and House Taxation Committees.

Romney was in Ypsilanti and the Detroit area Thursday, in his fourth day of campaigning for his program.

At Wyandotte, a former Republican legislator asked Romney to cut the governor's $27,500 salary by one-third, encouraging other state officials to follow suit and thus holding down state expenditures.

"I generally agree with your tax program," Arthur Kurtz, 65-year-old attorney, told Romney. "But we are not going to save taxpayers' money by increasing government salaries."

Kurtz said when he was a member of the legislature 15 years ago, lawmakers were paid $3 a day. Their salaries now are $7,000 and they receive a pension plan and $1,250 a year for expenses, plus mileage for two round trips home each month.

Ceiling Favored

"It is true that I am in the financial position that I could well afford a cut," said Romney, a former president of American Motors Corp.

"However," he said, "I don't feel that the governor... should have to be a man who is financially independent. For top talent you must pay top salaries."

Romney again was called on to defend his senior citizen tax relief proposals, which would allow low-income citizens over 65 to defer up to $200 a year in taxes. The state would collect it, with interest, from their estates.

"Why push it on my children?" a woman in nearby Allen Park asked.

"This is being set up to help senior citizens, not help their heirs," Romney replied.

At Ypsilanti, where Romney indicated he favors placing a "reasonable" ceiling on his proposed state income tax, he was asked what he considered reasonable.

"This is something I need to work out with the legislature," the governor said. "I need a little elbow room."

President Of Honduras Ousted In Bloody Revolt

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — Col. Osvaldo Lopez Arellano took over one-man rule in Honduras today after toppling President Ramon Villeda Morales in a bloody revolt. He said the nation is calm.

The commander of the armed forces announced in a proclamation his army took over to end Communist infiltration, administrative disorganization and political unrest.

Driven into exile by Thursday's military uprising, Villeda Morales landed in Costa Rica Thursday night. With him was his candidate for the presidency in the Oct. 13 election, Modesto Rodas Alvarado.

Fighting Kills 21

The military coup apparently was staged to forestall the election of Rodas Alvarado, who long has tried to subordinate the autonomous military to civilian control in Honduras.

Lopez Arellano announced he is taking over as provisional president, apparently deciding against a junta.

An army communique said 21 persons were killed in Thursday's fighting in this sleepy capital. Six were soldiers. The others were described as civilians. These civilians, presumably, were the civil guard, a 2,500-man semimilitary force the president organized in 1959 after a previous uprising. The regular army has 5,000 men.

The guard, which fought the army in the streets of Tegucigalpa, for several hours Thursday morning, has surrendered throughout the country, the communique asserted.

Guerrillas Vanish

The army earlier had said that the opposition reportedly was forming small groups of guerrillas in the countryside around this capital. The latest communique said, however, these guerrilla groups had vanished.

As dawn broke today, the capital was calm. Stores reopened. The only soldiers in sight were troops around government buildings.

The coup, coming eight days after a military coup in the Dominican Republic that ousted President Juan Bosch, caused new concern and repercussions throughout the Americas. It was the fourth such military takeover in Latin America this year and occurred despite a U.S. warning to Honduras military leaders that the United States opposes unconstitutional seizure of power.

The other coups were in Ecuador in July and Guatemala in March. Last year the military overthrew elected governments in Argentina and Peru.

Savage Storm Takes Big Toll In Caribbean

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Flora left a devastated Haiti in her wake today, thrashed into the windward passage and began battering the eastern tip of Cuba's Oriente Province.

For nine hours Thursday night and today, Flora pounded Haiti with 140-mile-an-hour fury. The Negro nation was left isolated from the world, with all communications out.

At 11 a.m. (EST), the hurricane was just off mountainous Oriente Province. Her top winds, which had dropped to 115 miles an hour over Haiti, had steamed back up to 125.

All Day Over Cuba

Gordon Dunn, chief storm forecaster in the Miami weather bureau, said it appeared that the hurricane might spend all day over Cuba. If it does, it would be greatly weakened when it finally re-enters the Atlantic.

However, regeneration of the storm still would be likely over open water and the Central Bahamas Islands would come into range.

An 11 a.m. (EST) advisory from the weather bureau placed the storm center at latitude 19.4 north, longitude 74.9 west, or about 40 miles south-southeast of Guantanamo Bay and 575 miles southeast of Miami. It was moving slowly northwest at 7 miles an hour.

When the wild night finally ended, defenseless Haiti still was being pounded by torrential rains and destructive floods almost certainly were raging down her mountainsides.

A sad story was expected to come from this thickly-populated tropic country when communications are re-established. Forecasters were worried also about what is yet to come.

Forecasters said there is no threat to the U.S. mainland, about 500 miles away, for at least two days, if at all.

Some Punch Lost

The night-long battle with Haiti's mountains took some of the punch out of Flora, most vicious hurricane in two years. Its top winds had fallen from 140 to 115 miles an hour when it left Haiti behind and moved into the narrow windward passage.

It still was a well-organized storm, however, and once through the passage and into the open Atlantic could quickly regain strength.

A slowing in the forward movement of the hurricane left some doubt as to when it would get through the mountains of Cuba's easternmost Oriente Province and into the British Bahamas.

The big U.S. Navy base at Guantanamo Bay, a thorn in the side of Fidel Castro's Communist island, was expected to come through the storm in good shape.

A hurricane's winds whirl in a counter-clockwise direction, which means that Guantanamo, just west of the storm center's path, is being blasted from the northeast, and on that side "Gito" is shielded by a mountain range.

North Cuba Warned

But Cubans might not fare so well. The National Weather Bureau of Cuba warned residents of Oriente to take "extreme measures" to protect themselves, especially in the low-lying zones of the North Coast.

Exiles from the Castro regime have reported that the Russians have a huge submarine base and other military installations in Oriente.

The Miami weather bureau said that if the hurricane continues on its present projected course, it would affect the major part of the Bahamas Island chain from Mayaguana up through the major islands of Eleuthera and Exuma.

The capital city of Nassau, on New Providence Island, lies far enough to the west of this path to appear out of the danger zone.

An 8 a.m. (EST) bulletin from the Miami weather bureau placed the storm center near latitude 19.5 north, longitude 74.6 west, or about 40 miles southeast of Guantanamo Bay and 160 miles west-northwest of Port Au Prince, capital of Haiti. It was moving toward the northwest at 12 miles an hour.

C&NW Wreck Is Investigated

MARINETTE, Wis. (AP)—Four of 15 persons injured Wednesday night when a passenger train went through an open switch and struck a standing freight remained hospitalized Thursday. Meanwhile traffic was restored on the rail line.

J. C. Black, lakeshore division superintendent of the Chicago & North Western Railroad said an investigation was in progress, but "we still haven't determined the cause of the wreck."

Crew members of the passenger train, the Peninsula 400 bound from Chicago to the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, said that one light was out on a switch controlling the section of track.

Of the 15 injured, eight were hospitalized overnight, but only two of the four remaining under treatment were listed as possibly serious. They were Eugene Ravet, 56, of Marinette, who suffered a neck injury, and Robert Aggen, 22, of Carney, Mich., with a head injury. Both were at St. Joseph-Loyd Hospital at adjacent Menominee, Mich.

At Marinette General Hospital, attendants said Elinor Stevens, 58, Chicago, and Sgt. John Fells, 41, of Sawyer Air Force Base, Mich., would be released today.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr. was talking to newsmen in Miami Beach when someone mentioned that it was the first anniversary of his six-orbit space flight. Where Can Valachi Hide When He Stops Talking?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Joseph Valachi, the talkative Cosa Nostra mobster, is posing a new dilemma for federal officials—where to hide him for the rest of his life when he stops talking.

They must find a secluded nook in their prison system where the 60-year-old informer can live out his days safe from vengeful underworld killers who reportedly have placed a $100,000 bounty on his head for spilling the secrets of organized crime.

A Bureau of Prisons official admitted, "If we had to take custody of Valachi today we honestly wouldn't know where to put him."

For a while, Valachi will stay at the District of Columbia Jail, in a private cell away from other prisoners, with a television set for company. One guard keeps an eye on him.

He has been at the jail between appearances before the Senate Investigations subcommittee, which resumes its questioning Tuesday. He most likely will remain there for a few weeks, a Justice Department source told a reporter. Valachi will testify before federal grand juries and talk with Canadian law enforcement officials.

But then what? Valachi is serving a life term for murder. The government is responsible for his safety. It could be sued were he to be harmed while under its custody.

The Bureau of Prisons is scrutinizing its high-security institutions across the nation in search for the ideal spot — one where Valachi can be isolated from other prisoners while not being placed in solitary confinement.

So far, the leading candidates are McNeil Island Penitentiary, or Puget Sound, in Washington; Leavenworth Penitentiary, Kansas; and the Medical Center in Springfield, Mo.

"But every time he names a name in those hearings it becomes harder to find a place for him," the Bureau of Prisons source said. "We've got a lot of these celebrities in prisons all across the country. And we sure don't want to put him in the middle of people who want him dead the most."

Shortly before coming to Washington to testify, Valachi was held for several weeks at the Army Signal Center, Ft. Monmouth, N.J. But the prisons official said there is no possibility of his being imprisoned on an Army post; that, he said, would be impractical.

How about hiding him in some state prison? "I don't imagine there's a state in the country that wants responsibility for Joe Valachi," the official said.

Reds Toss Rocks At U.S. Patrol

BERLIN (AP)—The U.S. Army has flown 20 more men into the enclave of Steinbocken to counter harassment of the U.S. patrol there by East German border guards.

For several days the guards have been throwing stones at the three-man U.S. military police post in Steinbocken, a 30-acre hamlet which belongs to the American sector of West Berlin but is surrounded by Communist territory.

Maj. Gen. James H. Polk, the American commandant, ordered the infantrymen into the enclave by helicopter Thursday.

Troop Pull-Back Planned By U.S. In S. Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. troop withdrawal from South Viet Nam will be a slow draining-off process whose tempo is likely to rise next year.

The gradual pull-back of the nearly 15,000 American military men now there will be keyed to what U.S. officials believe will be a steady strengthening of the South Vietnamese Army's ability to stand on its own feet.

—An underscored by a White House announcement Wednesday night—is internal political stability in Communist-beleaguered South Viet Nam.

War Can Be Won

The special mission headed by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, returned satisfied that the Saigon government's repression of Buddhists has not so far eroded the morale and fighting effectiveness of the South Vietnamese army.

It seems apparent that McNamara and Taylor believe that the war can be won with the regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem in power.

But the White House statement, based on their report to President Kennedy, was clear notice to the Diem government that this country expects it to halt its repressive measures — and that U.S. pressure toward that end will continue.

By fixing the end of 1965 as the target for winding up the main

U.S. military effort in South Viet Nam, the Kennedy administration has put itself on a limb it has avoided in the past.

Short Of Pilots

There are strong indications that actual withdrawals will be carried out without public announcement.

The first 1,000 Americans to be pulled back, probably within the next few months, will be siphoned from a wide range of military activities in South Viet Nam.

There will be no pull-out of entire units, at least at first.

The first men to be brought home probably will be maintenance technicians, clerks, and similar rear-area types.

The helicopter units which have been flying South Vietnamese troops into battle against the Red guerrillas, and the officers and men who have been training South Vietnamese soldiers, often under fire, likely will be among the last to leave.

Indications are that those remaining after the hoped-for winding up of the main U.S. military task in Viet Nam may be specialists training South Viet Nam's air force.

While the South Vietnamese army is taking on more and more of the planning, operations and technical responsibilities with its own U.S.-trained people, the Vietnamese air force is somewhat farther back in development. There still is a shortage of pilots, and these take a considerable time to train.

East And West To Ban Nuclear Devices In Orbit

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A new East-West agreement in principle to outlaw nuclear-armed space satellites will be translated soon into a public U.S.-Soviet pledge, U.S. diplomatic sources predicted today.

"Agreement on policy... (against) nuclear weapons in orbit" was announced by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home Thursday night as they wound up a week of talks.

Gromyko has an appointment with President Kennedy next Thursday. He is expected to talk with Kennedy and Rusk in Washington about this and other possible follow-ups to the limited nuclear test ban treaty, plus items of direct concern between the United States and Russia.

The Big Three foreign ministers put off for later negotiation the earth-bound disarmament plans on which they have been unable to agree. These plans, including a proposed East-West nonaggression pact and observer exchange, got tangled up with the thorny Germany-Berlin issue and have yet to be sorted out.

But in a joint four-sentence communique, the three saw potential accord in space.

Noting that Kennedy and Gromyko in their U.N. General Assembly speeches last month endorsed a ban on orbiting nuclear weapons, they said, "There is agreement on policy which it is hoped can be given appropriate form in the near future."

U.S. diplomats said today they expect the United States and Russia will soon follow through with a formal public declaration against orbiting nuclear weapons. They predicted it would be difficult to work out an agreed wording.

The diplomats also said a formal treaty would not do because it could not be policed. They said a public promise will be suitable because, according to U.S. military opinion, an orbiting weapon would have little military purpose. Earth-based missiles are much more efficient.

The United States and the Soviet Union would be the only nations making the pledge now because they are the only powers able to send objects into orbit.

The statement by Rusk, Gromyko and Home acknowledged failure to make much headway on other matters. Besides a nonaggression pact and observer exchange, U.S. sources listed these as reduction of military budgets, setting up nuclear-free zones, preventing the spread of atomic weapons, nuclear weapon disarmament and the Germany-Berlin dispute.

Strike Delays Canadian Ships

MONTREAL (AP) — Approximately 3,800 longshoremen in three St. Lawrence River ports walked off the job at 8 a.m. today, a step expected to have an immediate crippling effect on Canada's efforts to move wheat and flour purchased recently by Russia. The strike is intended to enforce demands for higher pay.

Seventeen six-man gangs began picketing entrances to Montreal Harbor as early as 6:30 a.m., but a few night gangs continued working right to the deadline.

The strike started at midnight in Quebec City and Trois-Rivieres and spread to Montreal today. It was the first strike called by the International Longshoremen's Association since 1936.

Negotiations between the association and the Shipping Federation of Canada, with Montreal Judge Rene Lippe as mediator, were to resume at midnight.

One source said some slight progress was made Thursday night. But he said progress was coming far too slowly to raise hopes of getting the men back on the docks quickly.

Canadian grain men hope to move some 60 million of the 210 million bushels of Russia-bound wheat through the St. Lawrence before the river freezes. But a reliable informant in Ottawa said the government would not intervene directly in the dispute yet, preferring to risk some disruption in shipping rather than upset the collective bargaining process.

Although the prospective delay in the shipment to Russia was attracting most attention, shipping circles said the loss of other business would be much more serious.

Reds Toss Rocks At U. S. Patrol

BERLIN (AP) — The U.S. Army has flown 20 more men into the enclave of Steinbocken to counter harassment of the U.S. patrol there by East German border guards.

For several days the guards have been throwing stones at the three-man U.S. military police patrol in Steinbocken, a 30-acre hamlet which belong to the American sector of West Berlin but is surrounded by Communist territory.

Maj. Gen. James H. Polk, the American commandant, ordered the infantrymen into the enclave by helicopter Thursday.

President Of Honduras Ousted In Bloody Revolt

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — Col. Osvaldo Lopez Arellano took over one-man rule in Honduras today after toppling President Ramon Villeda Morales in a bloody revolt. He said the nation is calm.

The commander of the armed forces announced in a proclamation his army took over to end Communist infiltration, administrative disorganization and political unrest.

Driven into exile by Thursday's military uprising, Villeda Morales landed in Costa Rica Thursday night. With him was his candidate for the presidency in the Oct. 13 election, Modesto Rodas Alvarado.

Fighting Kills 21
The military coup apparently was taken over as provisional president, apparently deciding against a junta.

An army communiqué said 21 persons were killed in Thursday's fighting in this sleepy capital. Six were soldiers. The others were described as civilians. These civilians, presumably, were the civil guard, a 2,500-man semimilitary force the president organized in 1959 after a previous uprising. The regular army has 5,000 men.

The guard, which fought the army in the streets of Tegucigalpa, for several hours Thursday morning, has surrendered throughout the country, the communiqué asserted.

Guerillas Vanish
The army earlier had said that the opposition reportedly was forming small groups of guerrillas in the countryside around this capital. The latest communiqué said, however, these guerrilla groups had vanished.

As dawn broke today, the capital was calm. Stores reopened. The only soldiers in sight were troops around government buildings.

The coup, coming eight days after a military coup in the Dominican Republic that ousted President Juan Bosch, caused new concern and repercussions throughout the Americas. It was the fourth such military takeover in Latin America this year and occurred despite a U.S. warning to Honduran military leaders that the United States opposes unconstitutional seizure of power.

The other coups were in Ecuador in July and Guatemala in March. Last year the military overthrew elected governments in Argentina and Peru.

Oct. 3 Recalled
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr. was talking to newsmen in Miami Beach when someone mentioned that it was the first anniversary of his six-orbit space flight.

"You know," said Schirra, "I've been sort of thinking that Oct. 3 meant something, but I couldn't pin down just what it was."

But then what? Valachi is serving a life term for murder. The government is responsible for his safety. It could be sued were he to be harmed while under its custody.

The Bureau of Prisons is scrutinizing its high-security institutions across the nation in search for the ideal spot — one where Valachi can be isolated from other prisoners while not being placed in solitary confinement.

So far, the leading candidates are McNeil Island Penitentiary, or Puget Sound, in Washington; Leavenworth Penitentiary, Kansas; and the Medical Center in Springfield, Mo.

But every time he names a name in those hearings it becomes harder to find a place for him. The Bureau of Prisons source said, "We've got a lot of these celebrities in prisons all across the country. And we sure don't want to put him in the middle of people who want him dead the most."

Shortly before coming to Washington to testify, Valachi was held for several weeks at the Army Signal Center, Ft. Monmouth, N.J. But the prisons official said

There is no possibility of his being imprisoned on an Army post; that, he said, would be impractical.

How about hiding him in some state prison? "I don't imagine there's a state in the country that wants responsibility for Joe Valachi," the official said.

Savage Storm Takes Big Toll In Caribbean

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Flora left a devastated Haiti in her wake today, thrashed into the windward passage and began battering the eastern tip of Cuba's Oriente Province.

For nine hours Thursday night and today, Flora pounded Haiti with 140-mile-an-hour fury. The Negro nation was left isolated from the world, with all communications out.

At 11 a.m. (EST), the hurricane was just off mountainous Oriente Province. Her top winds, which had dropped to 115 miles an hour over Haiti, had steamed back up to 125.

All Day Over Cuba
Gordon Dunn, chief storm forecaster in the Miami weather bureau, said it appeared that the hurricane might spend all day over Cuba. If it does, it would be greatly weakened when it finally re-enters the Atlantic.

However, regeneration of the storm still would be likely over open water and the Central Bahamas Islands would come into range.

An 11 a.m. (EST) advisory from the weather bureau placed the storm center at latitude 19.4 north, longitude 74.9 west, or about 40 miles south-southeast of Guantanamo Bay and 575 miles southeast of Miami. It was moving slowly northwest at 7 miles an hour.

When the wild night finally ended, defenseless Haiti still was being pounded by torrential rains and destructive floods almost certainly were raging down her mountainsides.

A sad story was expected to come from this thickly-populated tropic country when communications are re-established. Forecasters were worried also about what is yet to come.

Forecasters said there is no threat to the U.S. mainland, about 500 miles away, for at least two days, if at all.

Some Punch Lost
The night-long battle with Haiti's mountains took some of the punch out of Flora, most vicious hurricane in two years. Its top winds had fallen from 140 to 115 miles an hour when it left Haiti behind and moved into the narrow windward passage.

It still was a well-organized storm, however, and once through the passage and into the open Atlantic could quickly regain strength.

A slowing in the forward movement of the hurricane left some doubt as to when it would get through the mountains of Cuba's easternmost Oriente Province and into the British Bahamas.

The big U.S. Navy base at Guantanamo Bay, a thorn in the side of Fidel Castro's Communist island, was expected to come through the storm in good shape.

A hurricane's winds whirl in a counter-clockwise direction, which means that Guantanamo, just west of the storm center's path, is being blasted from the northeast, and on that side "Gito" is shielded by a mountain range.

North Cuba Warned
But Cubans might not fare so well. The National Weather Bureau of Cuba warned residents of Oriente to take "extreme measures" to protect themselves, especially in the low-lying zones of the North Coast.

Exiles from the Castro regime have reported that the Russians have a huge submarine base and other military installations in Oriente.

The Miami weather bureau said that if the hurricane continues on its present projected course, it would affect the major part of the Bahamas Island chain from Mayaguana up through the major islands of Eleuthera and Exuma.

The capital city of Nassau, on New Providence Island, lies far enough to the west of this path to appear out of the danger zone. At 8 a.m. (EST) bulletin from the Miami weather bureau placed the storm center near latitude 19.5 north, longitude 74.6 west, or about 40 miles southeast of Guantanamo Bay and 160 miles west-northwest of Port Au Prince, capital of Haiti. It was moving toward the northwest at 12 miles an hour.

While the South Vietnamese army is taking on more and more of the planning, operations and technical responsibilities with its own U.S.-trained people, the Vietnamese air force is somewhat farther back in development. There still is a shortage of pilots, and these take a considerable time to train.

There are strong indications that actual withdrawals will be carried out without public announcement.

The first 1,000 Americans to be pulled back, probably within the next few months, will be siphoned from a wide range of military activities in South Viet Nam.

There will be no pull-out of entire units, at least at first.

The first men to be brought home probably will be maintenance technicians, clerks, and similar rear-area types.

The helicopter units which have been flying South Vietnamese troops into battle against the Red guerrillas, and the officers and men who have been training South Vietnamese soldiers, often under fire, likely will be among the last to leave.

Indications are that those remaining after the hoped-for wind-up of the main U.S. military task in Viet Nam may be specialists training South Viet Nam's air force.

Oct. 6-12 Week To Stress Hiring Of Handicapped

The week of Oct. 6-12 has been designated as National "Employ The Handicapped Week," a period during which the Michigan Employment Security Commission places special emphasis on the ability, rather than the disability, of the handicapped in seeking job placement.

James Damitz, manager of the local employment security commission office, said the MESC works throughout the year persuading employers to hire the handicapped, but that special attention is given during this week-long period in furthering equal employment opportunity for the handicapped.

By a joint resolution of the Congress, approved back in 1945, the first week in October of each year has been designated as National Employ the Physical Handicapped Week.

Damitz said that employment of the handicapped can be good business. "This approach is more consistent with the facts, and establishes with a potential employer a spirit of cooperation in helping him safely and productively employ a handicapped worker," he said.

A recent Department of Labor study indicates that only a small proportion of disabled workers require intensive placement efforts.

Damitz stressed that in the world of tomorrow the work opportunities will lie in those different areas from those of today. He said that emphasis will be placed upon the creative and graphic arts, professions, government jobs and jobs dealing with people and services.

"These changes," he said, "will provide for greater opportunities for the handicapped, for the kinds of jobs that make no essential physical demands, and are therefore much better suited to disabled individuals."

Damitz said the thing to remember is that with handicapped workers the thing that counts is ability. "There is no job that requires 100 per cent of a worker's physical capacity. Even if they are limited by a handicap from some kinds of work there are still many jobs they can do according to their remaining capacities, special skills, abilities, training, interests and previous work experience," the local MESC manager said.

MESC services, said Damitz, such as selective placement, employment counseling, job development, preparing the applicant and employer for interview, recommendations for job modification, and a follow-up to determine suitability of and progress on the job, are offered by each branch office in the state.

They are: Janice Parlatto, president; Joyce Kolish, senior vice president; Rose Coolman, secretary; Mary Nault, treasurer; Phyllis Heyesen, public relations officer; Ruth Oliver, chaplain; Betty Nault, sergeant-at-arms.

Fire Wrecks Rural Home

The Bark River residence of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Erickson located about one mile north of Bark River, was completely gutted by fire Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Erickson were visiting in Chicago at the time. Their two sons, Wayne, 25, and Verne, 19, were living in the house, but were out for the evening.

Fire Chief Herman Palmgren of the Bark River Volunteer Fire Department said the department's pumper and a 1,800 gallon tanker were rushed to the scene and the fire was brought under control about 10:45 p. m. Twelve firemen fought the blaze.

The Harris Township Fire Department was also called to the scene. Palmgren said that the blaze was extinguished about 1 a. m. today, but that the men stayed at the scene until 3:15 putting out lingering sparks and burning pieces of wood.

Verne Erickson arrived at the scene, and thinking his brother Wayne was in the house entered the building to find him. Firemen brought Verne from the building and he was given oxygen. He was later treated by a physician for smoke inhalation. At the time of the fire Wayne had been attending choir practice.

Chief Palmgren said it is believed the fire was caused through electrical wiring, but that an investigation will be conducted. It is not known if the loss of furniture and clothing was covered by insurance.

Wells P. T. A. Opens Meetings For New Year

WELLS—The first regular monthly meeting of the Wells P. T. A. was held Tuesday evening, Oct. 1, at the Wells Central School. President, Mrs. Eugene Ecklund, announced that Halloween trick or treating will be the evening of Oct. 31.

The problem of bus transportation was discussed and it was recommended that Mrs. Vandeville, as chairman, take the problem to the next school board meeting.

John A. Lemmer, guest speaker, gave an interesting and well received talk on his trip to the Holy Land.

Mrs. Christie's afternoon kindergarten won the room award with 88 per cent parents present.

Refreshments were served by morning kindergarten mothers, Mrs. John Anderson, Mrs. Paul Horst, Mrs. Richard Whitney and Mrs. Robert Calouette.

Convict U. P. Man On Charge Of Impersonation

MARQUETTE—After deliberating a half-hour a federal court jury here this week convicted a St. Ignace man on a charge of impersonating a Coast Guard officer.

Convicted and scheduled for sentencing before Judge W. Wallace Kent of Kalamazoo was Saxton A. Palmore, 47, of St. Ignace.

Palmore had appeared in court on the charge in July when he entered a plea of not guilty. He was then scheduled for trial in October.

He was charged with impersonating a lieutenant commander in the U. S. Coast Guard in order to secure entry to the officers mess and to obtain other privileges at Kincheloe Air Force Base, Sault Ste. Marie.

U. P. Lawyers Offered Course

Lawyers from the Upper Peninsula will attend a Uniform Commercial Code program this fall at the Mather Inn in Ishpeming, part of a statewide effort to familiarize practicing lawyers with the Uniform Commercial Code which takes effect Jan. 1 in Michigan and makes sweeping legal changes.

The program is presented by the Institute of Continuing Legal Education of The University of Michigan Law School—Wayne State University Law School and the State Bar of Michigan.

Lecturing at the UCC Program will be Professor Roy L. Steinheimer, Jr., of the U-M Law School.

Uniform Commercial Code Program II, covering commercial paper, bank deposits and collections, letters of credit, investment securities, and documents of title, will be held at Ann Arbor, Detroit, Grand Rapids and Lansing.

Cattle Arrive For Big Sale

There were about 100 head of young beef stock in the pens at the Escanaba Livestock Auction today and many more were due to arrive in the week-end for the annual auction of young feeder animals starting at noon Tuesday.

The sale will last until all animals are sold, about 5 p. m. and it is expected to move about 1,600 young beef animals to feed lots in Lower Michigan, Wisconsin and elsewhere in the Corn Belt. The sale will set a volume record. Last year's auction sold 1,200 animals.

It was necessary for the Bay de Noc Beef Breeders Association, sponsors of the sale, to provide extra pens to accommodate the large number of animals consigned to this year's sale. They come from the mid-Upper Peninsula and east to Luce and Mackinac Counties.

Times Set For Diabetics Test At Health Center

Special arrangements have been made for persons under 30 years of age, who are blood relatives of diabetics, for a These will be done at specific times at the Delta-Menominee District Health Department.

A Michigan girl, pictured above, Kathy Allison, 18, of Bloomfield Hills, is Miss Junior Achievement of 1963. She is shown here with Fred G. Clark, chairman of the American Economic Foundation, sponsor of the Hall of Free Enterprise, which is dramatizing how the American free enterprise system works to create jobs and profits. This is the primary objective of J.A. Escanaba's JA just moved into new quarters in the old Cloverland Commercial College in the 800 block on Ludington Street. It will hold its first meeting of this school year next Monday evening.

Feed Dealers Meet Oct. 23

The Upper Peninsula Feed Dealers Association will hold its annual meeting in Escanaba starting at 10 a. m. Wednesday, Oct. 23, announces J. O. MacInnis of Sault Ste. Marie, secretary.

The program at the State Office Building will offer talks on trend in dairy feeding by Dr. Charles Lassiter, Michigan State University; on cage layer feeding by Dr. Don Hillman, MSU; on rod row trials by Dave Smith, U. P. Extension crops specialist; on new crop varieties by Don Thurlow, extension agronomist.

Robert Stroup will talk on new equipment for the small feed mill; Ward Parks in the new wage and hour law.

The feed dealers will lunch at the Hotel Sherman and the afternoon session will elect officers. Dr. Leonard Vader, Michigan Department of Agriculture veterinarian will be host at a coffee klatch at 9:30 a. m.

The annual meeting reviews progress in farm animal feeding and the general field of livestock nutrition, bringing the leadership of both the commercial feed industry and Michigan State University's College of Agriculture to the aid of feed men supplying U. P. farmers.

The series of 10 lecture-discussions has been designed to offer direct, practical assistance to small business owners and managers who are responsible for management decisions.

U. P. Lawyers Offered Course

Lawyers from the Upper Peninsula will attend a Uniform Commercial Code program this fall at the Mather Inn in Ishpeming, part of a statewide effort to familiarize practicing lawyers with the Uniform Commercial Code which takes effect Jan. 1 in Michigan and makes sweeping legal changes.

The program is presented by the Institute of Continuing Legal Education of The University of Michigan Law School—Wayne State University Law School and the State Bar of Michigan.

Lecturing at the UCC Program will be Professor Roy L. Steinheimer, Jr., of the U-M Law School.

Uniform Commercial Code Program II, covering commercial paper, bank deposits and collections, letters of credit, investment securities, and documents of title, will be held at Ann Arbor, Detroit, Grand Rapids and Lansing.

Cattle Arrive For Big Sale

There were about 100 head of young beef stock in the pens at the Escanaba Livestock Auction today and many more were due to arrive in the week-end for the annual auction of young feeder animals starting at noon Tuesday.

The sale will last until all animals are sold, about 5 p. m. and it is expected to move about 1,600 young beef animals to feed lots in Lower Michigan, Wisconsin and elsewhere in the Corn Belt. The sale will set a volume record. Last year's auction sold 1,200 animals.

It was necessary for the Bay de Noc Beef Breeders Association, sponsors of the sale, to provide extra pens to accommodate the large number of animals consigned to this year's sale. They come from the mid-Upper Peninsula and east to Luce and Mackinac Counties.

Baby Car Death Trial Ordered

A Menominee County couple must stand trial on manslaughter charges in the death of their infant daughter, Circuit Judge Ernest W. Brown has ruled.

Eight-month-old Jacqueline Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Jackson of Harris Township, died Dec. 11, 1962 in the driveway of the family home when, according to the mother, she placed the baby behind the wheels of their car to prevent her husband from leaving during a quarrel. Jackson backed the car over the baby's head, killing her instantly.

Judge Brown's opinion that there is at least a prima facie case for manslaughter charges was given after examination of briefs submitted by both defense attorney Kenneth O. Doyle and Prosecutor Russell Bradley, following a motion by Doyle to quash the proceedings. The Jacksons had been held for trial April 2 on the manslaughter charge by Justice Emil Ewald despite the defense's contention that testimony in the preliminary hearing failed to show a crime had been committed.

The defense contended that no malice toward the baby could be proven on the part of either father or mother, a requisite for any degree of murder, it was contended.

The Jacksons, who have two other children, both acknowledged to sheriff's officers that they had been arguing prior to the baby's death. The mother acknowledged she had placed the baby behind the car on other occasions to keep her husband from leaving home, and that he had always come back into the house.

In conflicting testimony, the mother had claimed the father deliberately backed over the baby, while Jackson claimed his wife "tossed" the baby under the wheels after the car began to move.

New Ranger At Rapid River

Reinold (Ray) Chase formerly assigned to the Washburn District of the Chequamegon National Forest in Wisconsin, has been appointed as the new Forest Ranger for the Rapid River district of the Hiawatha National Forest.

Chase, who took over his new duties last month, replaces Richard Griswold, who has been transferred to the regional office at Milwaukee. Griswold had been at the Rapid River station for about two years.

He received his Forestry Degree from the University of Minnesota after which he was assigned to the Kawishiwi District of the Superior National Forest at Ely, Minn. Chase was later assigned to the Shequamegon National Forest in Wisconsin.

Mr. and Mrs. Chase are natives of Minnesota and are very pleased with their new assignment here because of the similarity between the two states.

The couple has three sons, Alan, 12, David, 17 months, and Timothy who is five months old.

Randall R. Penhale, former Iron River educator who is Michigan representative of the U.S. Treasury Savings Bond Division, visited Escanaba this week and said people shouldn't cash in their Series E Savings Bonds at maturity because while they attain a 3.75 interest rate, they give a yield of 4.09 per cent. A bond bought for $75 in June to November, 1943 started at 2.9 pct. interest, rose to 3 pct. and then 3.5 pct. At maturity at 10 years it was worth $100, at 20 years $137.36, at 30 years $199.16 having earned $124.16 in interest.

Mr. and Mrs. William Duchaine of Lansing are in Boston visiting their daughter and her family and in no hurry to get home because all their household furnishings were destroyed in a moving van fire near Trenary. Duchaine is the former WDBC news director and is now on the staff of the Lansing State Journal.

"Did you read of the elephant rampage here?" he asked. "I didn't know about it until I came to work the next morning."

Ben Phlegar of Royal Oak, Mich., a staff writer for U.S. News & World Report in the Midwest and former automotive editor of the Associated Press, was in Escanaba today. His mission: To ask Upper Peninsulaans if they're happy, contented, concerned? Do we think we're going places? One answer: "Yes, but we sometimes wonder where!" He's been at Sawyer Air Force Base to see about integration in the U.P. for his fine publication.

Tourist Assn. Books Suggitt

MARQUETTE — One of the state's most qualified men in community planning will address the Upper Michigan Tourist Association's annual convention here next Wednesday, Oct. 9.

UMTA members from throughout the Upper Peninsula will hear Dr. Frank W. Suggitt, Lansing, at a noon luncheon in Hotel Northland. His talk will follow morning presentation of the association's program and committee meetings and precede an afternoon business session.

"We believe that Dr. Suggitt is qualified to present a broad picture of tourism in the Upper Peninsula," said Ken Slater, Hubert, UMTA president. "Besides conducting market analysis and interregional comparative advantage studies of Michigan's manufacturing, tourism and agriculture, he undertook a survey and made recommendations for Gogebic County and is now doing similar work for Mackinac County."

"We hope many of our members will attend the Oct. 9 meeting to hear Dr. Suggitt."

The defense contended that no malice toward the baby could be proven on the part of either father or mother, a requisite for any degree of murder, it was contended.

The Jacksons, who have two other children, both acknowledged to sheriff's officers that they had been arguing prior to the baby's death. The mother acknowledged she had placed the baby behind the car on other occasions to keep her husband from leaving home, and that he had always come back into the house.

In conflicting testimony, the mother had claimed the father deliberately backed over the baby, while Jackson claimed his wife "tossed" the baby under the wheels after the car began to move.

New Ranger At Rapid River

Reinold (Ray) Chase formerly assigned to the Washburn District of the Chequamegon National Forest in Wisconsin, has been appointed as the new Forest Ranger for the Rapid River district of the Hiawatha National Forest.

Chase, who took over his new duties last month, replaces Richard Griswold, who has been transferred to the regional office at Milwaukee. Griswold had been at the Rapid River station for about two years.

He received his Forestry Degree from the University of Minnesota after which he was assigned to the Kawishiwi District of the Superior National Forest at Ely, Minn. Chase was later assigned to the Shequamegon National Forest in Wisconsin.

Mr. and Mrs. Chase are natives of Minnesota and are very pleased with their new assignment here because of the similarity between the two states.

The couple has three sons, Alan, 12, David, 17 months, and Timothy who is five months old.

Contributions To Chips Welcomed

Randall R. Penhale, former Iron River educator who is Michigan representative of the U.S. Treasury Savings Bond Division, visited Escanaba this week and said people shouldn't cash in their Series E Savings Bonds at maturity because while they attain a 3.75 interest rate, they give a yield of 4.09 per cent. A bond bought for $75 in June to November, 1943 started at 2.9 pct. interest, rose to 3 pct. and then 3.5 pct. At maturity at 10 years it was worth $100, at 20 years $137.36, at 30 years $199.16 having earned $124.16 in interest.

Mr. and Mrs. William Duchaine of Lansing are in Boston visiting their daughter and her family and in no hurry to get home because all their household furnishings were destroyed in a moving van fire near Trenary. Duchaine is the former WDBC news director and is now on the staff of the Lansing State Journal.

"Did you read of the elephant rampage here?" he asked. "I didn't know about it until I came to work the next morning."

Ben Phlegar of Royal Oak, Mich., a staff writer for U.S. News & World Report in the Midwest and former automotive editor of the Associated Press, was in Escanaba today. His mission: To ask Upper Peninsulaans if they're happy, contented, concerned? Do we think we're going places? One answer: "Yes, but we sometimes wonder where!" He's been at Sawyer Air Force Base to see about integration in the U.P. for his fine publication.

Tourist Assn. Books Suggitt

MARQUETTE — One of the state's most qualified men in community planning will address the Upper Michigan Tourist Association's annual convention here next Wednesday, Oct. 9.

UMTA members from throughout the Upper Peninsula will hear Dr. Frank W. Suggitt, Lansing, at a noon luncheon in Hotel Northland. His talk will follow morning presentation of the association's program and committee meetings and precede an afternoon business session.

"We believe that Dr. Suggitt is qualified to present a broad picture of tourism in the Upper Peninsula," said Ken Slater, Hulbert, UMTA president. "Besides conducting market analysis and interregional comparative advantage studies of Michigan's manufacturing, tourism and agriculture, he undertook a survey and made recommendations for Gogebic County and is now doing similar work for Mackinac County."

"We hope many of our members will attend the Oct. 9 meeting to hear Dr. Suggitt."

Delta County has voted by a margin of more than four to one to levy a 2 mill tax for one year to raise funds to match a $177,000 grant from the Accelerated Public Works Program to build a new jail.

The lopsided vote followed several in the area on school millage and other needs which squeaked through or were defeated. Why the heavy favor for this program and all-out willingness to spend the money of the community?

Several possible explanations are advanced and they have no doubt all been factors, but the strongest influence appears to have been the "bargain" character of the project. That's what it was called in the promotion.

Voters were convinced that unless they voted the matching funds, the federal grant would be lost, their jail would be closed by the State Corrections Department as no longer meeting state standards, and they would be forced to provide one with their own means.

The implications here are large and significant. They suggest very strongly that the nation increasingly is accepting the lead of Congress in financing local government's public works through Washington. This process has been active for a long time, but a crash program like Accelerated Public Works gives the trend a big speedup. Also, it sets the stage for a continuation of appropriations by Congress for such works, because the planning always outruns the funds and leads to demands for more such matching funds to implement the left-over plans.

It would have been very difficult to sell the Delta jail project to Delta voters if they were not confronted with the argument that they already had been taxed by the federal government for the federal part of the jail cost and that if they refused to appropriate local funds to match it, Delta's share of the APW program would go to Pine Knot, Arkansas or somewhere else to build a jail.

Along with the federal funding, of course, go a federal controls and federal standards for the planning. The federal government sponsors the Area Redevelopment Administration program which called for the Overall Economic Development plans in which so many Upper Peninsula counties listed new jails as among their needs.

There is considerable local criticism of these programs which increase the socialization of the economy and the federalization of local government. But there is not enough willingness on the part of either local officials or voters to act effectively on local projects, so that the federal agencies step into the void and supply the planning and bait financing to get local action.

The time to oppose such programs, if they are to be opposed, is when they are proposed in Congress, not after the economy has been taxed to finance them. To abstain then means only that the community lacks political sophistication enough to get back some of the federal tax swag.

The Doctor Says:

Watch Skin's Spots

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

Q—What causes the brown spots that appear on some people's hands as they grow older?

A—The changes you refer to may be seen in young adults who are of light complexion if they have been exposed to the sun and wind a great deal, but the spots do tend to become more noticeable with age. Exposure merely hastens the process. These spots are never seen in unexposed areas.

Exposure to the sun over many years also predisposes to skin cancer. For this reason, these spots should be watched for evidence of a hard reddened area of inflammation at their borders and for ulceration.

I believe in the labor movement, but your recent ballyhoo about James R. Hoffa is downright sickening. Perhaps you liked him because he criticized the Kennedys.

It is a known fact that Hoffa is and has been affiliated with gangland. You know as well as I he is a definite "black eye" to organized labor.

Honest people hope Robert Kennedy can overcome the money behind Hoffa to convict him.

Men really found a place for junk when they started building two-car garages.

The people who spend more than they make are living in the great beyond.

tions that are slow to heal and quick to break down again. Fortunately skin cancer is the easiest kind of cancer to diagnose early in its course. It is also the easiest to remove completely so that the danger of recurrence is eliminated.

Q—For several years I have been getting purple spots on my arms and legs. They come and go. What causes them and is there any cure?

A—You probably have some form of purpura or bleeding into the skin. The cause is often hard to find. Some persons with this condition are cured by having the spleen removed, but this depends on the type of purpura and would be a matter for your doctor to decide.

Q—What are the symptoms of myasthenia gravis?

A—In myasthenia gravis there is a general weakness of all the voluntary muscles. Frequently the muscles of swallowing are affected and the victim is subject to fits of choking. When the condition is severe even talking becomes difficult. Fortunately most victims are benefited by neostigmine or one of the related drugs. A tumor of the thymus is often the cause and, if such a cause is found, removal of the thymus will bring about a cure.

Q—My uterus was removed when I was 31 years of age, but not my ovaries. Will I go through the menopause earlier than women usually do, at the usual time or will I skip it completely?

A—Since the menopause is due to a gradual decrease of ovarian function, the fact that your uterus was removed will not affect this physiological process.

The chief feature of the menopause is the cessation of menstruation which you have already had. The extent and duration of other symptoms of the menopause, especially the hot flashes with or without drenching sweats, varies so greatly in different women that it is impossible to say whether you will have them at the usual time or not.

In any case, the fact that you have had your uterus removed will not influence the outcome.

Edson In Washington

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON—(N E A)—It has taken Congress the full nine months-plus to give birth to its first two important decisions of the year—the test ban treaty in the Senate and the tax bill in the House.

In this period Congress has been able to give fewer than 100 of President Kennedy's 250 legislative recommendations any consideration at all. Two-thirds of the administration program hasn't even been taken up in committee for hearings.

In addition, more than 8,500 bills have been introduced in the House and more than 2,100 in the Senate. Of these 11,000 measures originating with congressmen, fewer than 100—one per cent of the total—have been enacted into law.

Only five new laws passed this year are considered of major importance.

These facts and figures emphasize the need for reorganization of Congress better than all the words in the 17,000 pages of Congressional Record proceedings.

Congress isn't exactly on strike against the rest of the government. Both Senate and House are working longer and harder this year than in any Congress since World War II.

But the end result is a slowdown and an inability to make decisions that is more crippling than a strike.

What Congress really needs is the same kind of action it took in the railroad labor crisis to prevent a strike.

If Congress can't modernize its own work rules to eliminate legislative featherbedding, it should turn the job over to arbitrators empowered to bring in a binding decision.

But the chances for any such action this year are slim.

Under bipartisan sponsorship of Senators Joe Clark, D-Pa., Clifford Case, R-N.J., and 30 others, the Senate Rules Committee has finally cleared a resolution to set up a Joint Committee on the Organization of Congress.

Similar resolutions have been introduced in the House by Reps. John V. Lindsay, R-N.Y., Henry Reuss, D-Wis.

But no body outside of Congress is pushing this project And what it needs more than anything else is a public lobby to demand reform.

It has even been suggested that President Kennedy could well show a little more interest in this project, since he has been the principal victim of congressional lethargy.

While the President keeps up a front of not wanting to interfere with Congressional procedures, he certainly interfered on reorganization of the House Rules Committee.

Assuming that the Clark-Case resolution can be sieved through the crowded congressional "colander" this late in the year, the Joint Committee would be authorized to make recommendations to improve organization, simplify operations and attain better relations with other branches of government.

Three other resolutions approved by the Rules Committee would permit study of specific reforms:

• Set aside four hours of each session for debate pertinent to legislation under consideration and nothing else.

• Allow committees to meet without obtaining special permission while only routine business is being considered.

• Authorize Congress to handle matters pertaining to the budget more efficiently and expeditiously.

But reform of Senate and House rules which are responsible for many of the delaying tactics used by congressmen opposed to a pending measure during floor debate would again be excluded from consideration by the new Joint Committee.

Peeping Tom At Wrong Window; Lands In Jail

MARQUETTE—A "peeping Tom" who picked the wrong house to peep into is now peeping out of the barred windows of a jail.

Donald J. Savera, 22, of 350 E. Ridge St. was ordered to spend a term in the Marquette County Jail when he appeared in municipal court on a charge of being disorderly and, in particular, window peeping.

A woman saw Savera peeping into her living room at 1:15 a. m. She called to her husband who happens to be State Police Det. Sgt. William Simmons. A neighbor, who happens to be Sgt. Grant C. Barry, commander of the Marquette state police post, heard the disturbance and came running.

The two state police officers apprehended the window peeper outside of Simmons' home and turned him over to the city police department.

Municipal Judge Edward H. Dembowski yesterday ordered Savera to spend three days in the county jail and pay a fine of $30 and $5 costs.

Elsie Man, 21, Is Buried Alive Working In Silo

ELSIE (AP)—David Knapp, 21, was buried alive by silage Tuesday and suffocated before searchers uncovered his body and found his coat pulled over his head in a futile attempt to keep from suffocating.

Knapp was missed about 4 p. m. and searchers found the body late Tuesday night.

Clinton County Coroner Van Hoag said Knapp was working in a silo to level the loads as they were blown in after being hauled from the fields. Hoag said Knapp may have fallen asleep in the silo because there were long intervals between loads.

Formerly of Byron, Knapp had been living at Elsie with his wife and child for less than a month.

All active Cub Scouts of Pack 471 will attend the Manistique-Gladstone football game in Gladstone Saturday afternoon, it is announced by Cubmaster Floyd Swift. The Pack will pay the admission for the Cubs and each will be given a ticket good for a treat.

All Cubs planning to attend must meet at the James T. Jones School, in uniform, at 1:30 p. m. Saturday and will march to the football field behind the Gladstone High School band.

Snowaert Pleads Not Guilty To Game Law Charge

Paul Snowaert, 28, of Rte. 1, Gladstone, entered a plea of not guilty to a conservation game law charge, possession of parts of a deer without being in possession of a proper license, when arraigned before Justice Ross P. Davis on Thursday.

Snowaert posted a $50 bond to assure his appearance at a hearing set by the court for Oct. 10.

He was stopped by State Police at 3 a. m. Wednesday on U.S. 2-41, in Kipling, for driving on the wrong side of the road. When officers approached they noticed he was covered with blood. Further investigation revealed blood and deer hair in the trunk of the car.

Conservation Officer James Walker of Gladstone was notified and he obtained the warrant against Snowaert.

When arraigned on Thursday Snowaert pleaded guilty to the traffic charge, driving on the wrong side of the road.

Gladstone High School students began use of the new cafeteria, which has been added to the James T. Jones School, this week. The cafeteria is the first phase of the construction program at the school to be put in operation. Opening day there were 178 students served. Wallace Cameron, superintendent of schools, said it takes about a half-hour to serve the noon meal. The room has also been set up to be used at other times as an elementary gym. (Daily Press Photo)

Delta County has voted by a margin of more than four to one to levy a 2 mill tax for one year to raise funds to match a $177,000 grant from the Accelerated Public Works Program to build a new jail.

The lopsided vote followed several in the area on school millage and other needs which squeaked through or were defeated. Why the heavy favor for this program and all-out willingness to spend the money of the community?

Several possible explanations are advanced and they have no doubt all been factors, but the strongest influence appears to have been the "bargain" character of the project. That's what it was called in the promotion.

Voters were convinced that unless they voted the matching funds, the federal grant would be lost, their jail would be closed by the State Corrections Department as no longer meeting state standards, and they would be forced to provide one with their own means.

The implications here are large and significant. They suggest very strongly that the nation increasingly is accepting the lead of Congress in financing local government's public works through Washington. This process has been active for a long time, but a crash program like Accelerated Public Works gives the trend a big speedup. Also, it sets the stage for a continuation of appropriations by Congress for such works, because the planning always outruns the funds and leads to demands for more such matching funds to implement the left-over plans.

It would have been very difficult to sell the Delta jail project to Delta voters if they were not confronted with the argument that they already had been taxed by the federal government for the federal part of the jail cost and that if they refused to appropriate local funds to match it, Delta's share of the APW program would go to Pine Knot, Arkansas or somewhere else to build a jail.

Along with the federal funding, of course, go a federal controls and federal standards for the planning. The federal government sponsors the Area Redevelopment Administration program which called for the Overall Economic Development plans in which so many Upper Peninsula counties listed new jails as among their needs.

There is considerable local criticism of these programs which increase the socialization of the economy and the federalization of local government. But there is not enough willingness on the part of either local officials or voters to act effectively on local projects, so that the federal agencies step into the void and supply the planning and bail financing to get local action.

The time to oppose such programs, if they are to be opposed, is when they are proposed in Congress, not after the economy has been taxed to finance them. To abstain then means only that the community lacks political sophistication enough to get back some of the federal tax swag.

The Doctor Says:

Watch Skin's Spots

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

Q—What causes the brown spots that appear on some people's hands as they grow older?

A—The changes you refer to may be seen in young adults who are of light complexion if they have been exposed to the sun and wind a great deal, but the spots do tend to become more noticeable with age. Exposure merely hastens the process. These spots are never seen in unexposed areas.

Exposure to the sun over many years also predisposes to skin cancer. For this reason, these spots should be watched for evidence of a hard reddened area of inflammation at their borders and for ulceration.

Q—For several years I have been getting purple spots on my arms and legs. They come and go. What causes them and is there any cure?

A—You probably have some form of purpura or bleeding into the skin. The cause is often hard to find. Some persons with this condition are cured by having the spleen removed, but this depends on the type of purpura and would be a matter for your doctor to decide.

Q—What are the symptoms of myasthenia gravis?

A—In myasthenia gravis there is a general weakness of all the voluntary muscles. Frequently the muscles of swallowing are affected and the victim is subject to fits of choking. When the condition is severe even talking becomes difficult. Fortunately most victims are benefited by neostigmine or one of the related drugs. A tumor of the thymus is often the cause and, if such a cause is found, removal of the thymus will bring about a cure.

Q—My uterus was removed when I was 31 years of age, but not my ovaries. Will I go through the menopause earlier than women usually do, at the usual time or will I skip it completely?

A—Since the menopause is due to a gradual decrease of ovarian function, the fact that your uterus was removed will not affect this physiological process.

The chief feature of the menopause is the cessation of menstruation which you have already had. The extent and duration of other symptoms of the menopause, especially the hot flashes with or without drenching sweats, varies so greatly in different women that it is impossible to say whether you will have them at the usual time or not.

In any case, the fact that you have had your uterus removed will not influence the outcome.

'That Far and No Farther!'

EDMUND VALTMAN, HARTFORD TIMES

Edson In Washington

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON—(N E A)—It has taken Congress the full nine months-plus to give birth to its first two important decisions of the year—the test ban treaty in the Senate and the tax bill in the House.

In this period Congress has been able to give fewer than 100 of President Kennedy's 250 legislative recommendations any consideration at all. Two-thirds of the administration program hasn't even been taken up in committee for hearings.

In addition, more than 8,500 bills have been introduced in the House and more than 2,100 in the Senate. Of these 11,000 measures originating with congressmen, fewer than 100—one per cent of the total—have been enacted into law.

Only five new laws passed this year are considered of major importance.

These facts and figures emphasize the need for reorganization of Congress better than all the words in the 17,000 pages of Congressional Record proceedings.

Congress isn't exactly on strike against the rest of the government. Both Senate and House are working longer and harder this year than in any Congress since World War II.

But the end result is a slowdown and an inability to make decisions that is more crippling than a strike.

What Congress really needs is the same kind of action it took in the railroad labor crisis to prevent a strike.

If Congress can't modernize its own work rules to eliminate legislative featherbedding, it should turn the job over to arbitrators empowered to bring in a binding decision.

But the chances for any such action this year are slim.

Under bipartisan sponsorship of Senators Joe Clark, D-Pa., Clifford Case, R-N. J., and 30 others, the Senate Rules Committee has finally cleared a resolution to set up a Joint Committee on the Organization of Congress.

Similar resolutions have been introduced in the House by Reps. John V. Lindsay, R-N. Y., Henry Reuss, D-Wis.

But no body outside of Congress is pushing this project. And what it needs more than anything else is a public lobby to demand reform.

It has even been suggested that President Kennedy could well show a little more interest in this project, since he has been the principal victim of congressional lethargy.

While the President keeps up a front of not wanting to interfere with Congressional procedures, he certainly interfered on reorganization of the House Rules Committee.

Assuming that the Clark-Case resolution can be sieved through the crowded congressional "colander" this late in the year, the Joint Committee would be authorized to make recommendations to improve organization, simplify operations and attain better relations with other branches of government.

Three other resolutions approved by the Rules Committee would permit study of specific reforms:

• Set aside four hours of each session for debate pertinent to legislation under consideration and nothing else.

• Allow committees to meet without obtaining special permission while only routine business is being considered.

• Authorize Congress to handle matters pertaining to the budget more efficiently and expeditiously.

But reform of Senate and House rules which are responsible for many of the delaying tactics used by congressmen opposed to a pending measure during floor debate would again be excluded from consideration by the new Joint Committee.

Peeping Tom At Wrong Window; Lands In Jail

MARQUETTE—A "peeping Tom" who picked the wrong house to peep into is now peeping out of the barred windows of a jail.

Donald J. Saveria, 22, of 350 E. Ridge St. was ordered to spend a term in the Marquette County Jail when he appeared in municipal court on a charge of being disorderly and, in particular, window peeping.

A woman saw Saveria peeping into her living room at 1:15 a. m. She called to her husband who happens to be State Police Det. Sgt. William Simmons. A neighbor, who happens to be Sgt. Grant C. Barry, commander of the Marquette state police post, heard the disturbance and came running.

The two state police officers apprehended the window peeper outside of Simmons' home and turned him over to the city police department.

Municipal Judge Edward H. Dembowski yesterday ordered Saveria to spend three days in the county jail and pay a fine of $30 and $5 costs.

'Elsie Man, 21, Is Buried Alive Working In Silo

ELSIE (AP)—David Knapp, 21, was buried alive by silage Tuesday and suffocated before searchers uncovered his body and found his coat pulled over his head in a futile attempt to keep from suffocating.

Knapp was missed about 4 p. m. and searchers found the body late Tuesday night.

Clinton County Coroner Van Hoag said Knapp was working in a silo to level the loads as they were blown in after being hauled from the fields. Hoag said Knapp may have fallen asleep in the silo because there were long intervals between loads.

Formerly of Byron, Knapp had been living at Elsie with his wife and child for less than a month.

Snowaert Pleads Not Guilty To Game Law Charge

Paul Snowaert, 28, of Rte. 1, Gladstone, entered a plea of not guilty to a conservation game law charge, possession of parts of a deer without being in possession of a proper license, when arraigned before Justice Ross P. Davis on Thursday.

Snowaert posted a $50 bond to assure his appearance at a hearing set by the court for Oct. 10.

He was stopped by State Police at 3 a. m. Wednesday on U.S. 2-41, in Kipling, for driving on the wrong side of the road. When officers approached they noticed he was covered with blood. Further investigation revealed blood and deer hair in the trunk of the car.

Conservation Officer James Walker of Gladstone was notified and he obtained the warrant against Snowaert.

When arraigned on Thursday Snowaert pleaded guilty to the traffic charge, driving on the wrong side of the road.

Pope Names Two More Cardinals To Holy Office

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI has named two additional cardinals—Augustin Bea and Ildemaro Antoniozzi—to the Congregation of the Holy Office, foremost of the 12 Vatican administrative agencies.

Cardinal Bea, 82-year-old German-born president of the Secretariat for Promoting Christian Unity is a leader of Church Progressives and Vatican sources viewed his appointment as a move of major significance.

Cardinal Antoniozzi, 65, an Italian, is generally considered among the Church Conservatives.

The Holy Office was founded in 1542 by Pope Paul III to combat heresy. It studies doctrinal questions and also functions as a tribunal. Its competence extends to all questions dealing with faith and morals.

Pope Names Two More Cardinals To Holy Office

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI has named two additional cardinals — Augustin Bea and Ildeobando Antoniutti — to the Congregation of the Holy Office, foremost of the 12 Vatican administrative agencies.

Cardinal Bea, 82-year-old German-born president of the Secretariat for Promoting Christian Unity is a leader of Church Progressives and Vatican sources viewed his appointment as a move of major significance.

Cardinal Antoniutti, 65, an Italian, is generally considered among the Church Conservatives.

The Holy Office was founded in 1542 by Pope Paul III to combat heresy. It studies doctrinal questions and also functions as a tribunal. Its competence extends to all questions dealing with faith and morals.

Cuban Regime Censors Letters

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Mail received in Miami this week from Cuba bore the first reported outward evidence that Fidel Castro's government is censoring letters.

A letter posted in Matanzas Province reached its Miami addressee with a hand-ruled, hand written notation, "inspected according to Resolution No. 58," a censor's initials, and a later Havana postmark. The envelope bore signs of having been opened.

Ann Landers

Let Mom Keep Her 33 Year Old Kid

Dear Ann Landers: Three months ago I started to date a 33-year-old attorney. I am 25. He has never been married and lives with his widowed mother. He told me last night that I am the type of a girl he would like to marry—and added, "provided you can pass the test." I asked him what test, and these are the questions he asked:

"Are you neat about the way you squeeze toothpaste out of the tube? Do you roll it up properly? Do you pin your hair up at night and cream your face?" (He can't tolerate this.) "How often do you change bed linen?" (He insists on fresh linen every night.)

I was shocked at these questions and treated them as a joke. But he was dead serious. Now I ask you, Ann Landers, in the absence of other peculiarities does this man sound like a good prospect for marriage? What would you do—JASMINE

Dear Jasmine: I'd let his mother have him for another 33 years.

Dear Ann Landers: Is this girl doing the right thing or not? On her third or fourth date she became intimate with this boy and now she is pregnant. She is a 20-year-old nurse who should have known better.

The young man says he is sorry he got involved and he wants nothing more to do with her. The girl is planning to file a paternity suit and insists on keeping the baby against all the advice from every side. I say she should go to a home for unwed mothers, have the baby and put it up for adoption. If she does this nobody will be hurt. She will not shame her family or his and the young man will not be stuck for 21 years of support money. Also, the baby will get a decent break instead of being known as an illegitimate child.

A lot is riding on your answer so think it through carefully.—INTERESTED PARTY

Dear Party: The girl did not ask me for advice so I will not attempt to give her any. Obviously she has made her decision and it's one which should be made by the girl herself.

It's a little late for that sterling fellow to decide he "wants nothing more to do with her." There are laws for hit-and-run Romeos—as he is about to find out.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a woman in my early 50's who married for the second time about six months ago. I am having real trouble with this man and I need your help.

Horace courted me for almost two years and was so charming and pleasant he had me completely fooled. I was going with two other very fine men at the same time and could have married either of them.

One week after Horace and I were man and wife he told me I had to show him a receipt for every item I bought, no matter how small. He was annoyed because I had spent $3.70 in the five and dime on shelf paper, cup hooks, drawer lining and odds and ends a person needs to set up a new place.

I find this humiliating since I have never had to account for money before. I have a small income but we decided before marriage to pool everything and that he would handle the money. Now I have to beg him for a dollar and I hate it. Please tell me what to do.—EMPTY PURSE

Dear Empty: Every woman should have some money to spend as she pleases—no questions asked—if her husband is employed. You are a fool to turn over your income to your husband and then beg him for a dollar.

The two of you should go to a marriage counselor or to a clergyman and talk this problem out. You need the help of a third party.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teenagers if you write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Births Decrease

LANSING (AP)—The number of births in Michigan in 1962 dropped sharply from 1961, the Michigan Hospital Association says. Births in 1962 numbered 183,278 while in 1961 there were 192,230 and in 1960 there were 194,928.

Ann Landers

Let Mom Keep Her 33 Year Old Kid

Dear Ann Landers: Three months ago I started to date a 33-year-old attorney. I am 25. He has never been married and lives with his widowed mother. He told me last night that I am the type of a girl he would like to marry—and added, "provided you can pass the test." I asked him what test, and these are the questions he asked:

"Are you neat about the way you squeeze toothpaste out of the tube? Do you roll it up properly? Do you pin your hair up at night and cream your face?" (He can't tolerate this.) "How often do you change bed linen?" (He insists on fresh linen every night.)

I was shocked at these questions and treated them as a joke. But he was dead serious. Now I ask you, Ann Landers, in the absence of other peculiarities does this man sound like a good prospect for marriage? What would you do?—JASMINE

Dear Jasmine: I'd let his mother have him for another 33 years.

Dear Ann Landers: Is this girl doing the right thing or not? On her third or fourth date she became intimate with this boy and now she is pregnant. She is a 20-year-old nurse who should have known better.

The young man says he is sorry he got involved and he wants nothing more to do with her. The girl is planning to file a paternity suit and insists on keeping the baby against all the advice from every side.

I say she should go to a home for unwed mothers, have the baby and put it up for adoption. If she does this nobody will be hurt. She will not shame her family or his and the young man will not be stuck for 21 years of support money. Also, the baby will get a decent break instead of being known as an illegitimate child.

A lot is riding on your answer—so think it through carefully.—INTERESTED PARTY

Dear Party: The girl did not ask me for advice so I will not attempt to give her any. Obviously she has made her decision and it's one which should be made by the girl herself.

It's a little late for that sterling fellow to decide he "wants nothing more to do with her." There are laws for hit-and-run Romeo—as he is about to find out.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a woman in my early 50's who married for the second time about six months ago. I am having real trouble with this man and I need your help.

Horace courted me for almost two years and was so charming and pleasant he had me completely fooled. I was going with two other very fine men at the same time and could have married either of them.

One week after Horace and I were man and wife he told me I had to show him a receipt for every item I bought, no matter how small. He was annoyed because I had spent $3.70 in the five and dime on shelf paper, cup hooks, drawer lining and odds and ends a person needs to set up a new place.

I find this humiliating since I have never had to account for money before. I have a small income but we decided before marriage to pool everything and that he would handle the money. Now I have to beg him for a dollar and I hate it. Please tell me what to do.—EMPTY PURSE

Dear Empty: Every woman should have some money to spend as she pleases—no questions asked—if her husband is employed. You are a fool to turn over your income to your husband and then beg him for a dollar.

The two of you should go to a marriage counselor or to a clergyman and talk this problem out. You need the help of a third party.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teenagers if you write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Births Decrease

LANSING (AP)—The number of births in Michigan in 1962 dropped sharply from 1961, the Michigan Hospital Association says. Births in 1962 numbered 183,278 while in 1961 there were 192,230 and in 1960 there were 194,928.

Women's Activities

With Our Women

Escanaba can boast of a distinguished artist among its remarkable women.

She is Alice M. Powers, wife of Victor H. Powers of 612 S. 12th St.

Her talent is widely recognized, but Alice Powers' gift to her community is one that cannot be measured in ordinary terms. It is her sincere interest in everyone she meets and in their activities. She shares their dreams, their accomplishments and their disappointments. She has the happy faculty of finding something wonderful in every day of ordinary living and it is catching. Let's just call her a morale builder, for want of better words.

The fourth generation artist in her family, she was born, Alice Uren, in Tamarack, Mich., March 6, 1906, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Uren. She was graduated from Houghton High School in 1924 and from Northern Michigan Teachers College, Marquette, now Northern Michigan University, in 1926.

Art Studies
She spent one year at the National Academy of Art, and also one year at the American Academy of Art, both in Chicago. She studied painting under Robert von Neumann of Milwaukee, Dan Lutz of California, at Milwaukee State Teachers College under Gustave Mueller and at Layton Art School under Gerritt Sinclair. She was president of her junior class in high school and a member of the Honor Society and of Beta Omega Tau in college, and, throughout her school years, she followed her interests in art, dancing, literature, drama and music.

She was a first grade teacher two years and a kindergarten teacher two years in the Escanaba Public School system, spent four years in Milwaukee and Chicago as a commercial advertising artist, taught art in the Gladstone Public Schools eight years and this year is teaching painting at the Bay de Noc Community College.

Organizations
She served as art teacher in the Adult Education program several years and also was superintendent of the Art, Antiques and Photography Department of the Upper Peninsula State Fair many years.

She is a member of the Epis-

Alice M. Powers

copal Church, a former member of the Escanaba Woman's Club. She taught painting weekly to a Woman's Club group many years. She helped organize the League of Women Voters in Escanaba, and recently was elected its president after serving as finance, membership and public relations chairman and as vice president. She also is a member of the Michigan Education Association.

To return to her painting, she has exhibited in Escanaba, a five generation show at the State Office Building, at Northern in Marquette, Suomi College, Hancock, Michigan Artist Show at the Art Institute, Detroit, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, 7 Arts Society, Milwaukee and Art Association in Douglas, Ariz.

She was married to Victor H. Powers of Escanaba in Manistique in June, 1936, and they have three sons: Richard E. and V. Michael, Ann Arbor, and Timothy J., at home.

Described as a mother, homemaker, artist and teacher, whose hobbies are clothing design, sewing, reading, music, conservation and nature study, she sums it all up in one typical remark, "Fun, isn't it?"

Washington PTA Is Meeting Tuesday Evening

The next regular meeting of the Washington School PTA will be held in the school meeting room Tuesday, Oct. 8 at 8 p. m. Room visitation at 7:30 will give the parents an opportunity to meet their children's teachers and see the work they do.

Dr. Alfred Gossan, optometrist, will be guest speaker for the program.

Mrs. Olive Petersen will be drive. Anyone wishing to join may do so at this time.

It is the wish of Gold Bond stamp committee, to complete the project before November.

Lunch arrangements will be under the direction of room mothers of Mrs. Ruth Tippet's fourth grade.

With Our Women

Escanaba can boast of a distinguished artist among its remarkable women.

She is Alice M. Powers, wife of Victor H. Powers of 612 S. 12th St.

Her talent is widely recognized, but Alice Powers' gift to her community is one that cannot be measured in ordinary terms. It is her sincere interest in everyone she meets and in their activities. She shares their dreams, their accomplishments and their disappointments. She has the happy faculty of finding something wonderful in every day of ordinary living and it is catching. Let's just call her a morale builder, for want of better words.

The fourth generation artist in her family, she was born, Alice Uren, in Tamarack, Mich., March 6, 1906, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Uren. She was graduated from Houghton High School in 1924 and from Northern Michigan Teachers College, Marquette, now Northern Michigan University, in 1926.

Art Studies

She spent one year at the National Academy of Art, and also one year at the American Academy of Art, both in Chicago. She studied painting under Robert von Neumann of Milwaukee, Dan Lutz of California, at Milwaukee State Teachers College under Gustave Mueller and at Layton Art School under Gerritt Sinclair. She was president of her junior class in high school and a member of the Honor Society and of Beta Omega Tau in college, and, throughout her school years, she followed her interests in art, dancing, literature, drama and music.

She was a first grade teacher two years and a kindergarten teacher two years in the Escanaba Public School system, spent four years in Milwaukee and Chicago as a commercial advertising artist, taught art in the Gladstone Public Schools eight years and this year is teaching painting at the Bay de Noc Community College.

Organizations

She served as art teacher in the Adult Education program several years and also was superintendent of the Art, Antiques and Photography Department of the Upper Peninsula State Fair many years. She is a member of the Episcopal Church, a former member of the Escanaba Woman's Club. She taught painting weekly to a Woman's Club group many years. She helped organize the League of Women Voters in Escanaba, and recently was elected its president after serving as finance, membership and public relations chairman and as vice president. She also is a member of the Michigan Education Association.

Alice M. Powers

To return to her painting, she has exhibited in Escanaba, a five generation show at the State Office Building, at Northern in Marquette, Suomi College, Hancock, Michigan Artist Show at the Art Institute, Detroit, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, 7 Arts Society, Milwaukee and Art Association in Douglas, Ariz.

She was married to Victor H. Powers of Escanaba in Manistique in June, 1936, and they have three sons: Richard E. and V. Michael, Ann Arbor, and Timothy J., at home.

Described as a mother, homemaker, artist and teacher, whose hobbies are clothing design, sewing, reading, music, conservation and nature study, she sums it all up in one typical remark, "Fun, isn't it?"

Washington PTA Is Meeting Tuesday Evening

The next regular meeting of the Washington School PTA will be held in the school meeting room Tuesday, Oct. 8 at 8 p. m. Room visitation at 7:30 will give the parents an opportunity to meet their children's teachers and see the work they do.

Dr. Alfred Gossan, optometrist, will be guest speaker for the program.

Mrs. Olive Petersen will be drive. Anyone wishing to join may do so at this time.

It is the wish of Gold Bond stamp committee, to complete the project before November.

Lunch arrangements will be under the direction of room mothers of Mrs. Ruth Tippet's fourth grade.

Great Lakes Conference football teams are more than holding their own against outside competition thus far this season . . . In 12 games against non-conference foes, Great Lakes teams have won seven, lost five . . . Teams that have won against Great Lakes clubs are Kingsford twice, Stambaugh, Holy Name and Menominee . . . Kingsford, Stambaugh and Holy Name, of course, are unbeaten this season.

Big game in Wisconsin parochial prep circles this weekend will match Appleton Xavier against Green Bay Pre-montre . . . Xavier, the only team to beat Holy Name in the past two years, whipped Menasha St. Mary 19-0 for its 27th straight victory last weekend.

Football fans here will have a chance to see the biggest high school player in the Upper Peninsula in action Saturday . . . He's Bob Partanen, a 5-foot, 10-inch Kingsford senior who tipped the scales at 307 pounds when the season opened . . . Coach Rae Drake uses Partanen in the defensive line.

Dick Berlinski, the Flivver flash, has averaged almost eight yards per carry in his five games this season . . . The junior speedster has picked up 800 yards from scrimmage in 115 trips . . . He has scored 14 touchdowns and six conversions for 90 points

Ward Thompson, former Eskymo athlete, is the leading pass catcher on the undefeated Augustana College football team this fall . . . Thompson, switched from end to flanker back in his senior season at Rock Island, has caught three passes good for 20 yards . . . Augustana has defeated Olivet 51-21 and North Central 16-13.

Michigan Tech boasts one of the leading scorers in Michigan in Doug King, former Wakefield high school athlete . . . King, a 24 year old sophomore halfback who weighs only 150 pounds, has scored 16 points.

Kingsford Is Biggest Hurdle For Holy Name

The Holy Name Crusaders face their biggest hurdle of the season Saturday in their homecoming game against the Kingsford Flivvers. Kickoff time at the Escanaba Athletic Field is 2 o'clock.

Coach Bill Earle's Crusader gridgers will be facing a team that has won five straight games this season. The Flivvers have measured Marquette, Stephenson, Norway, Menominee and Iron River, scoring 160 points while allowing only one touchdown. The enemy TD came on an intercepted pass by Norway.

Coach Rae Drake will have nine seniors and two juniors in his starting lineup. Seniors slated for starting offensive roles are end Ton Torrelli, tackles Dwight Remington and Bill Janeschek, guards Mar Hagger, and Dick Burby, center Paul Monette, quarterback Randy Brockington, halfback Gary Monaghan and fullback Roger Scott. The juniors are end Dick Free and halfback Dick Berlinski.

Berlinski is the golden boy of the Flivver team. A star since his freshman season, Berlinski is the leading scorer and top runner in the Upper Peninsula this fall. He has tallied 90 points and has gained 800 yards in 115 carries from scrimmage.

Spartans Tackle Southern Cal's Aroused Trojans

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
Southern California's Trojans, deposed by Oklahoma as the nation's No. 1 college football team, open their comeback bid tonight when they face Michigan State in Los Angeles.

The game, advanced to Friday night to avoid conflict with the Saturday World Series game, offers the Trojans a good opportunity. While they meet an unranked but highly respectable rival, two of the Top Ten teams will be idle this weekend and others can't gain much by beating low-rated opponents.

Southern California fell from first to eighth in The Associated Press poll after losing 17-12 to Oklahoma last Saturday. Chances are USC will be hotter tonight.

Michigan State's young team isn't considered a top contender in the always-tough Big Ten. But Coach Duffy Daugherty's Spartans romped to a 31-0 victory over North Carolina in their opener. USC is given a one-touchdown edge.

In other games tonight, Miami of Florida, riddled by a virus this week after a bounce-back victory over Purdue, plays two-time loser Tulane at New Orleans, Boston College visits Detroit, and The Citadel plays George Washington in a Southern Conference game.

Six Tigers At Dunedin

DETROIT (AP) — Six players who spent at least part of the 1963 season with the Detroit Tigers are included on the 23-man roster of the Dunedin team in the Florida Winter Instructional League.

The six are pitchers Bill Paul and Dennis McLain, catcher Bill Freehan, infielders Jake Wood and George Smith, and outfielder Willie Horton.

Wood is listed as an outfielder because the Tigers hope to groom him for the centerfield spot.

The season opens Oct. 8 and closes Dec. 6.

Dodgers Lead By Two Games

Alston Cautious, Houk Confident

By JOE REICHLER
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Strange are the workings of the minds of men.

Soft-spoken Walter Alston, his Los Angeles Dodgers riding the crest of a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven World Series, was afraid to talk about winning for fear of losing.

Pierce, forceful Ralph Houk, his proud New York Yankees still winless after two games with the Dodgers at home, insisted today his team will win the series although the next three games are scheduled for Los Angeles.

In the visiting clubhouse at Yankee Stadium after the Dodgers had whipped the Yankees 4-1 Thursday on top of a 5-2 opening triumph, it was suggested to Alston that the Dodgers' chances of a World Series triumph appeared a lot brighter with two games in the bag.

"It doesn't mean a damn thing unless we win two more," replied the cautious manager. "I remember back in 1956 we took the first two from the Yankees, and they came back to beat us. No, anything can still happen."

Some 50 yards away in the Yankee clubhouse, Houk sat chewing away at a cigar contemplating answers to the questions hurled at him by the reporters.

"I'll tell you one thing," snapped the hard-bitten manager of the Yankees. "We haven't thrown no damn towel in."

The reply was in answer to a question how it felt to be behind two games to none and despite the ungrammatical expression the listeners got the drift.

"It would be foolish for me to say a team that had a 2-0 edge didn't have the advantage," added Houk. "But I still say we'll win it."

"We've been two down before and we won. And we've won four in a row many times before."

There is one major difference, however. The Yankees never have lost the first two games at home, and come back to win.

Up to now, as the teams prepare for the third clash here Saturday, it has all been the Dodgers.

The National Leaguers have flashed the stronger pitching and better speed, as advertised, and have provided the heavier hitting and more spectacular defense, as unadvertised.

It was Johnny Podres' turn to take the pitching laurels Thursday as the veteran left-hander stuffed the Yankees with six hits until he left because of weariness after 8 1/3 innings. Ron Perranoski, the relief ace with the golden left arm, came in from the bullpen and shut the door on the Yankees after allowing a run-scoring single.

The Dodgers scored early, pouncing upon young Al Downing for a 2-0 lead in the first inning. Singles by Maury Wills and Jim Gilliam and the first of two doubles by Willie Davis, helped along when Roger Maris slipped and fell, produced the runs.

While Podres was mowing the Yankees down with precision, the Dodgers added to their total, scoring in the fourth on Moose Skowron's home run and again in the eighth when Tommy Davis followed Willie's two-bagger with a booming triple to the left-center field fence.

News 'N Notes On Pro Football

Don Hutson's NFL lifetime record for most yards gained by pass receiving died hard . . . On the first play of last Sunday's Dallas-Washington game, Cowboy Bill Howton caught a 13-yard pass but the play was nullified by an offside penalty. A little later Howton took an apparent 23-yard TD pass from Meredith, but offensive interference was called on another receiver . . . Still at it, in the second period Howton caught a 15-yarder that gave him a career total of 8,000 yards and the record . . . Hutson totaled 7,991 and 488 receptions in his career with Green Bay, and before the day was over, Howton pushed the record to 8,067 on 478 receptions . . . Next goal for Billy: Eleven more receptions . . . Said Howton, who once before broke a Hutson record (most yards in one season by a Packer in his rookie year of 1952): "The record didn't mean a thing — I don't mean that, I'm proud, honored — but what good is it if you don't win?" . . . The Cowboys lost 21-17 to Washington as Jim Steffen of the Skins intercepted three passes, including one he returned 78 yards for a touchdown . . . Redskins Coach Bill McPeak said, "Steffen's game was one of the finest I've ever seen by a defensive back. The interceptions were great, but his many open field tackles were also a big factor. That performance alone warrants him being projected into a listing of the league's top defensive backs."

Los Angeles Coach Harland Sware likens his low-scoring Rams to a golfer in trouble on the green . . . "It's that three-foot putt that we can't make," says Sware, "but once we make one, once we take it in there, we'll be all right. Then the confidence will come." . . . Ram oddity: Dick Bass, the team's leading rusher in '62 is now the leading receiver with 13 receptions for 196 yards . . . That pass Lou Groza tried in Cleveland's 20-6 victory over Los Angeles was the first incompleteness of his career . . . On the basis of a successful 23-yard attempt back in 1950, Lou has been pitching 1,000 . . . He threw last Sunday after a pass from center slipped along the field and ruined a field goal attempt . . . Said one observer after Groza's wild pass, "He's a great kicker, but he'll never do in the shotgun." . . . Coach Blanton Collier added: "He'll make an old man out of me before I make a passer out of him."

Coach George Wilson of the Detroit Lions introduced a "big back" offense against the Chicago Bears in the second half last Sunday, but the maneuver was for pass blocking, not rushing . . . "I only wish I had done it sooner," said Wilson, whose Lions lost to the Bears 37-21 after trailing 35-0 at the half . . . "When I sent Ollie Matson in to work with Nick Pietrosante in the second half, our blocking really improved. Before that, we had two men on Doug Atkins (Bears' defensive end), and he was still getting to the passer."

Baltimore rookie quarterback Gary Cuozzo had his first look at the Green Bay Packers in the Colts' 31-20 loss last Sunday, and here are his comments from strictly sideline observation: "That Green Bay defensive backfield looks awfully tough to throw against. It has nothing but speed. Willie Wood is a factor all over the field. He is an ideal free safety. There is just no weakness back there to work on. Just when it appears that a receiver is loose to throw to, up pops a linebacker to break up the pass." . . . And when Cuozzo finished that tribute, he still said, "I'm looking forward to getting a crack at them someday."

Any NFL back with ideas about returning a punt for a touchdown this year had better look at the record: Opening day, against Philadelphia, Brady Keys of the Steelers returned a punt 76 yards and failed to score. He ended up on the two-yard line . . . Second Sunday, Keys returned a punt 82 yards against New York and was driven out of bounds by Don Chandler on the New York 1 . . . And last Sunday, Eddie Dove of the Giants raced 83 yards with a punt return — longest of the young season — and was finally brought down two yards short of the goal line . . . Said Dove, traded just last week from San Francisco to New York: "They make these Eastern Conference fields two yards too short."

Coach Roman Gill's Rock Little Giants entertain the Bark River-Harris Broncos in their annual homecoming game this afternoon. Rock, after losing the first two games this season in the closing seconds of the contests, broke into the victory column with a 12-6 decision over Powers-Spalding last Saturday.

day. Rock is defending champion of the Wolverine Conference. Bark River-Harris lost its first start to Powers and had since defeated Rock and Pembine. The victory margin over Rock in the first game was 13-12. (Lee's Studio Photo)

Two Northern Players Hurt

MARQUETTE — Coach F. L. (Frosty) Ferzacca sought more reserve strength today as he pointed the Northern Michigan University football team toward Saturday's 1:30 p.m. clash with Hillsdale here at Memorial Field.

The Wildcats outplayed the University of Detroit Titans in the first period of play last Friday night but gave ground in the face of Detroit's aerial attack, power and depth. Detroit won, 20-7.

The game apparently cost Northern the services of 225-pound tackle Mike Feldhusen and 208-pound fullback Don Edens. Feldhusen, a native of Munising, injured his knee, and Edens, who hails from Kingsford, suffered a shoulder injury.

Fullback Don Bangert and guard Pat Stump are troubled with old knee injuries but apparently will be ready for action against Hillsdale.

Ferzacca, meanwhile, had nothing but praise for his team. "Considering that most of our starting lineup played more than 50 minutes against the Titans," he said, "it took a strong team effort to hold a club like Detroit to just three touchdowns."

Hillsdale, a perennial power under Coach Frank D. (Muddy) Waters, holds a 3-2 edge over Northern in a five-game series which began in 1958. Northern dropped last year's encounter, 14-6.

Sportswriter Picks Pack, Chicago To Win On Sunday

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—The "big one" in pro football this weekend is the Saturday night battle at Cleveland of the two unbeaten in the Eastern Conference of the National Football League, the Pittsburgh Steelers and Cleveland Browns.

The Chicago Bears, undefeated leaders of the Western Conference, will be at home to the Baltimore Colts in one of the six Sunday games in the NFL Green Bay, trailing by a game, takes on the winless Los Angeles Rams at home.

Y. A. Tittle and the New York Giants hope to close in on the Browns or Steelers by thumping Washington at Washington. Surprising Minnesota is at home to the strong St. Louis Cards in another big game.

Dallas and Philadelphia, two disappointing clubs that have not won, meet at Philadelphia. Detroit, loser of its last two, enters

San Francisco making its first start under new coach Jack Christiansen.

In the American Football League, the New York Jets defend their Eastern Division lead at the Polo Grounds against the Boston Patriots in a Saturday night game. Oakland will be at Buffalo on Saturday night. On Sunday it will be unbeaten San Diego at Denver and Houston at Kansas City.

We're still struggling with a 15-1-2 record. So here goes: All games Sunday unless otherwise indicated.

Rate Adrian Top Title Contender In MIAA Ranks

By The Associated Press
It has been quite a while since Adrian rated consideration as a strong contender for the MIAA football championship. But the Bulldogs, one of only three unbeaten college units in the state, appear to be the team to beat this year.

Adrian meets winless Albion in one of 12 games involving state teams Saturday. The Bulldogs will be seeking their third straight victory and their first over a Morley Fraser-coached Albion team.

Three colleges kickoff the weekend football activity tonight. Michigan State is at Southern California. Detroit plays host to Boston College, and Ohio Northern is at Eastern Michigan.

Wayne State becomes the final state team to start the season when it opens at home Saturday against Marietta, Ohio. Wayne's co-captains have been edged out of starting assignments by undergraduates.

Junior quarterback Dave Mox will start in place of Dennis D'Angelo. Sophomore Paul Jane, former Bay City Handy star, has supplanted Al Tessmer at one of the guard slots.

Michigan faces sixth-ranked Navy at Ann Arbor in its second start of the season.

In other MIAA affairs, Alma is at Olivet and Kalamazoo at Hope. None of these teams has won a game this season. Kalamazoo, the state's only unbeaten outfit last year, bowed to Wheaton, Ill., last week and saw a 12-game winning streak snapped.

Western Michigan, still seeking its first win, is at home for its Mid-American Conference opener against Miami, Ohio. Miami has lost one and tied one.

Northern Michigan and Hillsdale, both losers last weekend, end, meet in an afternoon game at Marquette.

In another Upper Peninsula feature, St. Cloud State of Minnesota faces Michigan Tech in a Northern Intercollegiate Conference tussle. Tech, one of the surprise teams in the state, has a 2-1 record, including a league triumph over Winona last Saturday.

Another improving team, Central Michigan, takes on Eastern Illinois in an IIAAC game at Mount Pleasant. The Chippewas surprised Western Michigan in one of the big upsets of the weekend their last time out.

Northwood Institute plays Ashland, Ohio at home Saturday and will be looking for its second victory. The team recorded the first win in its short history at the expense of Olivet last Saturday.

Grand Rapids JC journeys to Bluffton, Ohio, and Ferris State is at St. Norbert's (Wis.). St. Norbert's handed Hillsdale its first loss last Saturday night.

Buffalo 20, Oakland 14—Saturday. The Bills cannot go on losing forever. Jack Kemp is reported ready for duty.

New York 17, Boston 13—Saturday. The Jets are steamed up to reverse that 38-14 opening game defeat.

Kansas City 21, Houston 17—A rematch of last year's title game. San Diego 24, Denver 1—The Chargers are moving with a 3-0 record.

Regular Passer Returns At UM

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The expected return of No. 1 quarterback Bob Timberlake could give Michigan a strong passing attack against sixth-ranked Navy Saturday.

Timberlake sat out last Saturday's opener against Southern Methodist—except for a few kicking plays—because a shoulder injury failed to heal properly.

Frosty Evashevski was pressed into service and led the Wolverines to a 27-16 triumph. Evashevski completed 7 of 10 passes and his performance kept him in the starting lineup for the Navy game.

The play of Evashevski and Timberlake's all-around ability has shoved last year's leading passer, Bob Chandler, almost completely out of the picture.

In Navy, Michigan will be facing a well-balanced team which has scored 79 points while giving up only seven in victories over West Virginia and William & Mary.

Quarterback Roger Staubach leads the Middles in total offense, having picked up 105 yards in 28 carries and completed 29 of 39 passes for 377 yards. Halfback John Sai has added 100 yards in 18 rushes.

The Wolverines have been stressing pass defense in their drills this week. SMU rolled to its two touchdowns last week on two drives in which passing played a major part.

Michigan realizes that if it is to stop Navy, it must stop Staubach—who thinks nothing of passing from his own end zone rather than running the ball out to get "breathing room."

Staubach set a new individual game record for Navy last week when he gained 297 yards.

Junior halfback Dick Rindfuss, who scored Michigan's first touchdown last week and who reeled off 35 yards the first time he carried the ball, has been moved up to a starting halfback spot. Sophomores Jack Clancy and Dick Wells are also expected to see plenty of action.

John Yanz, a senior second string tackle, suffered a knee injury last week and will probably miss Saturday's contest.

Great Lakes Conference football teams are more than holding their own against outside competition thus far this season . . . In 12 games against non-conference foes, Great Lakes teams have won seven, lost five . . . Teams that have won against Great Lakes clubs are Kingsford twice, Stambaugh, Holy Name and Menominee . . . Kingsford, Stambaugh and Holy Name, of course, are unbeaten this season.

Big game in Wisconsin parochial prep circles this weekend will match Appleton Xavier against Green Bay Pre-montre . . . Xavier, the only team to beat Holy Name in the past two years, whipped Menasha St. Mary 19-0 for its 27th straight victory last weekend.

Football fans here will have a chance to see the biggest high school player in the Upper Peninsula in action Saturday . . . He's Bob Partanen, a 5-foot, 10-inch Kingsford senior who tipped the scales at 307 pounds when the season opened . . . Coach Rae Drake uses Partanen in the defensive line.

Dick Berlinski, the Flivver flash, has averaged almost eight yards per carry in his five games this season . . . The junior speedster has picked up 800 yards from scrimmage in 115 trips . . . He has scored 14 touchdowns and six conversions for 90 points

Ward Thompson, former Eskymo athlete, is the leading pass catcher on the undefeated Augustana College football team this fall . . . Thompson, switched from end to flanker back in his senior season at Rock Island, has caught three passes good for 20 yards . . . Augustana has defeated Olivet 51-21 and North Central 16-13.

Michigan Tech boasts one of the leading scorers in Michigan in Doug King, former Wakefield high school athlete . . . King, a 24 year old sophomore halfback who weighs only 150 pounds, has scored 16 points.

Kingsford Is Biggest Hurdle For Holy Name

The Holy Name Crusaders face their biggest hurdle of the season Saturday in their homecoming game against the Kingsford Flivvers. Kickoff time at the Escanaba Athletic Field is 2 o'clock.

Coach Bill Earle's Crusader gridders will be facing a team that has won five straight games this season. The Flivvers have measured Marquette, Stephenson, Norway, Menominee and Iron River, scoring 160 points while allowing only one touchdown. The enemy TD came on an intercepted pass by Norway.

Coach Rae Drake will have nine seniors and two juniors in his starting lineup. Seniors slated for starting offensive roles are end Tom Tortelli, tackles Dwight Remignoli and Bill Janeshek, guards Marc Haggerty and Dick Burby, center Paul Monette, quarterback Randy Brockington, halfback Gary Mongrain and fullback Roger Scott. The juniors are end Dick Free and halfback Dick Berlinski.

Berlinski is the golden boy of the Flivver team. A star since his freshman season, Berlinski is the leading scorer and top runner in the Upper Peninsula this fall. He has tallied 90 points and has gained 800 yards in 115 carries from scrimmage.

Spartans Tackle Southern Cal's Aroused Trojans

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
Southern California's Trojans, deposed by Oklahoma as the nation's No. 1 college football team, open their comeback bid tonight when they face Michigan State in Los Angeles.

The game, advanced to Friday night to avoid conflict with the Saturday World Series game, offers the Trojans a good opportunity. While they meet an unranked but highly respectable rival, two of the Top Ten teams will be idle this weekend and others can't gain much by beating low-rated opponents.

Southern California fell from first to eighth in The Associated Press poll after losing 17-12 to Oklahoma last Saturday. Chances are USC will be hotter tonight.

Michigan State's young team isn't considered a top contender in the always-tough Big Ten. But Coach Duffy Daugherty's Spartans romped to a 31-0 victory over North Carolina in their opener. USC is given a one-touchdown edge.

In other games tonight, Miami of Florida, riddled by a virus this week after a bounce-back victory over Purdue, plays two-time loser Tulane at New Orleans. Boston College visits Detroit, and The Citadel plays George Washington in the Southern Conference game. Top-ranked Oklahoma and Wisconsin, No. 4, have open dates this weekend. Alabama, No. 2 after impressive victories over Georgia and Tulane, plays Vanderbilt at Nashville Saturday night and Texas, No. 3, has a night game against Oklahoma State. They may improve their statistics but aren't likely to gain much prestige.

Dodgers Lead By Two Games

Alston Cautious, Houk Confident

By JOE REICHLER
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Strange are the workings of the minds of men.

Soft-spoken Walter Alston, his Los Angeles Dodgers riding the crest of a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven World Series, was afraid to talk about winning for fear of losing.

Fierce, forceful Ralph Houk, his proud New York Yankees still winless after two games with the Dodgers at home, insisted today his team will win the series although the next three games are scheduled for Los Angeles.

Some 50 yards away in the Yankee clubhouse, Houk sat chewing away at a cigar contemplating answers to the questions hurled at him by the reporters.

"I'll tell you one thing," snapped the hard-bitten manager of the Yankees. "We haven't thrown no damn towel in."

The reply was in answer to a question how it felt to be behind two games to none and despite the ungrammatical expression the listeners got the drift.

Los Angeles Coach Harland Sware likens his low-scoring Rams to a golfer in trouble on the green . . . "It's that three-foot putt that we can't make," says Sware, "but once we make one, once we take it in there, we'll be all right. Then the confidence will come." . . . Ram oddity: Dick Bass, the team's leading rusher in '62 is now the leading receiver with 13 receptions for 196 yards . . . That pass Lou Groza tried in Cleveland's 20-6 victory over Los Angeles was the first incorporation of his career . . . On the basis of a successful 23-yard attempt back in 1950, Lou has been pitching . . . He threw last Sunday after a pass from center slipped along the field and ruined a field goal attempt . . . Said one observer after Groza's wild pass, "He's a great kicker, but he'll never do in the shotgun." . . . Coach Blanton Collier added: "He'll make an old man out of me before I make a passer out of him."

Coach George Wilson of the Detroit Lions introduced a "big back" offense against the Chicago Bears in the second half last Sunday, but the maneuver was for pass blocking, not rushing . . . "I only wish I had done it sooner," said Wilson, whose Lions lost to the Bears 37-21 after trailing 35-0 at the half . . . "When I sent Ollie Matson in to work with Nick Pietrosante in the second half, our blocking really improved. Before that, we had two men on Doug Atkins (Bears' defensive end), and he was still getting to the passer."

Baltimore rookie quarterback Gary Cuozzo had his first look at the Green Bay Packers in the Colts' 31-20 loss last Sunday, and here are his comments from strictly sideline observation: "That Green Bay defensive backfield looks awfully tough to throw against. It has nothing but speed. Willie Wood is a factor all over the field. He is an ideal free safety. There is just no weakness back there to work on. Just when it appears that a receiver is loose to throw to, up pops a linebacker to break up the pass." . . . And when Cuozzo finished that tribute, he still said, "I'm looking forward to getting a crack at them someday."

Any NFL back with ideas about returning a punt for a touchdown this year had better look at the record: Opening day, against Philadelphia, Brady Keys of the Steelers returned a punt 76 yards and failed to score. He ended up on the two-yard line . . . Second Sunday, Keys returned a punt 82 yards against New York and was driven out of bounds by Don Chandler on the New York 1 . . . And last Sunday, Eddie Dove of the Giants raced 83 yards with a punt return — longest of the young season — and was finally brought down two yards short of the goal line . . . Said Dove, traded just last week from San Francisco to New York: "They make these Eastern Conference fields two yards too short."

Coach Roman Gill's Rock Little Giants entertain the Bark River-Harris Broncos in their annual homecoming game this afternoon. Rock, after losing the first two games this season in the closing seconds of the contests, broke into the victory column with a 12-6 decision over Powers-Spalding last Saturday.

day. Rock is defending champion of the Wolverine Conference. Bark River-Harris lost its first start to Powers and had since defeated Rock and Pembine. The victory margin over Rock in the first game was 13-12. (Lee's Studio Photo)

Two Northern Players Hurt

MARQUETTE — Coach F. L. (Frosty) Ferzacca sought more reserve strength today as he pointed the Northern Michigan University football team toward Saturday's 1:30 p.m. clash with Hillsdale here at Memorial Field.

The Wildcats outplayed the University of Detroit Titans in the first period of play last Friday night but gave ground in the face of Detroit's aerial attack, power and depth. Detroit won, 20-7.

The game apparently cost Northern the services of 225-pound tackle Mike Feldhusen and 208-pound fullback Don Edens. Feldhusen, a native of Munising, injured his knee, and Edens, who hails from Kingsford, suffered a shoulder injury.

Fullback Don Bangert and guard Pat Stump are troubled with old knee injuries but apparently will be ready for action against Hillsdale. Ferzacca, meanwhile, had nothing but praise for his team. "Considering that most of our starting lineup played more than 50 minutes against the Titans," he said, "it took a strong team effort to hold a club like Detroit to just three touchdowns."

Hillsdale, a perennial power under Coach Frank D. (Muddy) Waters, holds a 3-2 edge over Northern in a five-game series which began in 1958. Northern dropped last year's encounter, 14-6.

Sportswriter Picks Pack, Chicago To Win On Sunday

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—The "big one" in pro football this weekend is the Saturday night battle at Cleveland of the two unbeaten in the Eastern Conference of the National Football League, the Pittsburgh Steelers and Cleveland Browns.

The Chicago Bears, undefeated leaders of the Western Conference, will be at home to the Baltimore Colts in one of the six Sunday games in the NFL. Green Bay, trailing by a game, takes on the winless Los Angeles Rams at home.

Y. A. Tittle and the New York Giants hope to close in on the Browns or Steelers by thumping Washington at Washington. Surprising Minnesota is at home to the strong St. Louis Cards in another big game.

Dallas and Philadelphia, two disappointing clubs that have not won, meet at Philadelphia. Detroit, loser of its last two, enters tains San Francisco making its first start under new coach Jack Christiansen.

In the American Football League, the New York Jets defend their Eastern Division lead at the Polo Grounds against the Boston Patriots in a Saturday night game. Oakland will be at Buffalo on Saturday night. On Sunday it will be unbeaten San Diego at Denver and Houston at Kansas City.

We're still struggling with a 15-1-2 record. So here goes: All games Sunday unless otherwise indicated.

NFL

Pittsburgh 20, Cleveland 16—

Saturday. That Steeler rush line may be tough for the Browns. It could be a field goal duel between Lou Michaels and Lou Groza.

Chicago 28, Baltimore 21 —

Bears, running a hot hand, are healthy. Colts will be missing Jimmy Orr but Johnny Unitas can make it tight.

Detroit 20, San Francisco 10—

With John Brodie out of action, 49ers must go with Bob Waters or gamble on Lamar McHan, just acquired.

St. Louis 21, Minnesota 17—The Cards' good pass defense, plus the throwing of Charlie Johnson and the running of Joe Childress and Bill Triplett make the difference.

New York 35, Washington 28—

The Redskins' pass defense still is leaky.

Green Bay 38, Los Angeles 10—

Jim Taylor is a doubtful starter but the Packers have too much for the rebuilding Rams.

Dallas 24, Philadelphia 21—Another upset here with the Cowboys finally clicking like they should.

AFL

Buffalo 20, Oakland 14—Saturday. The Bills cannot go on losing forever. Jack Kemp is reported ready for duty.

New York 17, Boston 13—Saturday. The Jets are steamed up to reverse that 38-14 opening game defeat.

Kansas City 21, Houston 17—A rematch of last year's title game.

San Diego 24, Denver 1—The Chargers are moving with a 3-0 record.

Regular Passer Returns At UM

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The expected return of No. 1 quarterback Bob Timberlake could give Michigan a strong passing attack against sixth-ranked Navy Saturday.

Timberlake sat out last Saturday's opener against Southern Methodist—except for a few kicking plays—because a shoulder injury failed to heal properly.

Frosty Evashevski was pressed into service and led the Wolverines to a 27-16 triumph. Evashevski completed 7 of 10 passes and his performance kept him in the starting lineup for the Navy game.

The play of Evashevski and Timberlake's all-around ability has shoved last year's leading passer, Bob Chandler, almost completely out of the picture.

In Navy, Michigan will be facing a well-balanced team which has scored 79 points while giving up only seven in victories over West Virginia and William & Mary.

Quarterback Roger Staubach leads the Middles in total offense, having picked up 105 yards in 28 carries and completed 29 of 39 passes for 377 yards. Halfback John Sai has added 100 yards in 18 rushes.

The Wolverines have been stressing pass defense in their drills this week. SMU rolled to its two touchdowns last week on two drives in which passing played a major part.

Michigan realizes that if it is to stop Navy, it must stop Staubach—who thinks nothing of passing from his own end zone rather than running the ball out to get "breathing room."

Staubach set a new individual game record for Navy last week when he gained 297 yards.

Junior halfback Dick Rindfuss, who scored Michigan's first touchdown last week and who reeled off 35 yards the first time he carried the ball, has been moved up to a starting halfback spot.

sophomores Jack Clancy and Dick Wells are also expected to see plenty of action.

John Yanz, a senior second string tackle, suffered a knee injury last week and will probably miss Saturday's contest.

State Honors City Employee

The Michigan Department of Health's Col. Edward D. Rich award for meritorious service in public water utilities was presented to Roy Swaby, Escanaba city employee, last night at the meeting of the City Council.

Russell L. Johnson, engineer in charge of the Health Department's Upper Peninsula regional office at Escanaba, made the presentation of the certificate, named for the late Col. Rich who had served as state sanitary engineer from 1911 to 1946. Mayor Harold Vanlerberghe also commended and congratulated Swaby for his efficient public service.

The award goes to persons employed in water departments for 25 or more years and in Escanaba was earlier received by Joseph Petersen and Clarence Toushak.

The Council opened bids for the purchase of a plow and scraper and accepted the low bid of High Equipment Sales, Petoskey for $2,546, lowest of four received, subject to approval by Kenneth Toushak, public works superintendent.

Purchase of 80 tons of rock salt for ice control on streets from the low bidder was approved subject to approval by Purchasing Agent Ed Olson. Lowest of five bids was Independent Salt Co., 85 cents per pound for 60 ton car.

The $80 bid of Chris Nicholson of Escanaba, only one received, was accepted by the Council for demolition of a vacant frame dwelling in the safety zone area at the municipal airport.

An amendment to the house trailer ordinance was adopted: Mayor Vanlerberghe issued a proclamation directing attention to Credit Union Week Oct. 14-9; and subject to police approval the approval of an SDD license to Robert Dagenais, the Piggly Wiggly store, 1505 Washington Ave., was approved.

Two library assistants at Carnegie Public Library were placed under city civil service, with upward adjustments of salary to $3,832 annually, plus other benefits similar to the classification of Account clerk I.

John DeChantal was announced as the employee-elected delegate, with James Olson, alternate, to the Municipal Employees Retirement System. Representing the city administration will be Frank Bourke, city controller, with Milton Embs, administrative assistant, alternate.

Traffic court summons have been issued by Escanaba police to Gladys G. Anderson, Escanaba Rte. 1, failing to exercise due care and caution; Carol J. Courneene, Wells, speeding and improper lane usage; Brenda C. Johnson, Wells, excessive horn noise.

Alan Sanville, 416 S. 18th St., reported to Escanaba police that his car struck and killed a deer in the 1400 block, S. 23rd St., at 9:45 p. m. Sanville's car was damaged.

Escanaba police have been notified by the U. S. Coast Guard that Donald K. Bone, 26, of Ishpeming, is reported as absent without leave since Tuesday at the Escanaba light station.

Steve Sabor of 1412 N. 16th St. has been employed by the city of Escanaba as custodian at Carnegie Public Library, filling a vacancy created by the resignation of Leo Potvin. Sabor qualified for the position through civil service examination, was formerly employed by the U. S. Forest Service, and is married and has two children.

Passenger traffic volume at Escanaba airport in September totaled 904 and in addition there were 98 transient and four military transient flights, it is announced by Jon Thorin, airport manager.

Regular monthly meeting of Teamsters Union, Local 328, will be held Saturday, Oct. 5, at 7:30 p. m. at Teamsters Headquarters, 900 1st Ave. S. The Ladies Auxiliary will meet at the same time and an interesting program will be presented by the ladies who traveled to Washington, D. C., last week. Members of both groups are urged to be at the meetings.

Roy Swaby (left) of the Escanaba utility office receives from Russell L. Johnson, Michigan Department of Health engineer in charge, the Col. Edward D. Rich award for 23 or more years of meritorious service in helping provide the public with a safe and dependable water supply. The presentation was made at the meeting of the City Council last night.

Mike McDonough Fatally Injured

Michael Robert McDonough, 26, structural steel worker, member of a well-known Escanaba family, was fatally injured when he was struck by a crane boom on a construction job in Flint Thursday afternoon.

The accident occurred about 4:30 and the young man died in Hurley Hospital at Flint at 6 p. m. He was employed by the Paragon Bridge and Steel Co., at Flint and recently worked at Escanaba in the construction of the addition to the Bishop Noa Home for Senior Citizens.

The company is erecting the steel framework of an addition to the Chevrolet assembly plant.

Born in Gladstone on Dec. 4, 1936, Mr. McDonough attended local schools and was graduated from Escanaba High School. He was a member of the varsity football squad.

He had resided in Escanaba most of his life, moving to Ishpeming about 2 1/2 years ago.

Switzerland Student Now At Weldum Home

ROCK — Charles Louis Beson, exchange from Switzerland, has arrived at the Albert Weldum home from Lower Michigan, where he had spent six weeks, living three weeks with each of two different families. Prior to Michigan, he spent over two months with 11 different host families in North Carolina.

He arrived from Switzerland by boat to New York City on May 7. When he leaves the Weldum home Oct. 19, he will return to Washington, D. C. for final consultation and Nov. 7 he will leave from New York City for his homeland.

The IFYE is a 4-H club people-to-people program where people from the States live and work with people in other countries come to the United States for similar visits.

Charles speaks and understands English remarkably well, and has a fine sense of humor. He is interested in everything in our country and contributes much about his country.

He visited the Rock School Wednesday and showed colored slides on Switzerland to the students. He will show slides at the Rock Lions meeting Monday evening at the club house.

Wednesday, Oct. 9, he will show slides at 8 p. m. at the Lions Club after the 4-H business meeting. This showing is open to the public and all interested persons are invited.

New Shift Added At Gibson Plant

GREENVILLE (AP) — Gibson Refrigerator spokesman Nick Natello said Thursday 100 of 300 new employees being hired here for a second shift are expected to be made permanent on the payroll.

Hiring interviews started Monday at Gibson, a division of Hupp Corp., which plans to start the second shift later this month to meet increased orders.

Natello, Gibson director of personnel and community relations, said the new workers will bring to 1,800 the total employed here and at the air conditioner plant in nearby Belding.

Federal Govt. Moves To Rule Rivers Of U.P.

By JEAN WORTH

The public hearing called by the U. S. Public Health Service for Nov. 6 in Goodfellowship Hall, Menominee on pollution of the Menominee River has stirred considerable interest and now more than in the Michigan Water Resources Commission.

The Commission is the state agency charged with control of the pollution, and while the Menominee is interstate waters, being the border of Wisconsin, Michigan obviously has an undivided half interest in the stream, which is the largest river of the Upper Peninsula.

The Michigan Water Resources Commission has been making studies of the Menominee River for years and has what must be the greatest knowledge of the condition of its waters, unless the federal government's recent interest has made it more knowledgeable than the state about the stream.

Federalization Trend?
The Commission appears not to regard the Menominee as a serious problem area and must be awaiting the Public Health Service hearing with wonder about the motivation. The public interest turns on this point, too.

The questions being asked most in the state about the inquiry are:

1. Is this inquiry tied in with federal efforts to legislate higher standards of quality for public waters?

2. Does it augur a new relationship in which the federal government will play a stronger role in the control of natural resources?

Bag Only Clue To Poisoning

LANSING (AP) — Officials had only a paper bag as a clue and a wide area of Northern Michigan to search today for the source of a smoked whitefish suspected in the food poisoning deaths of a Kalamazoo couple.

Meanwhile, technicians conducted tests to determine whether the deaths Wednesday of Chester O. Mitchell, 64, and his wife, Blanche, 62, were caused by Type E botulism.

Dr. Ralph Costlow, a microbiologist at Michigan State University, said if the whitefish contained Type E botulism bacteria, there may be more dangerous fish at the same source.

Kalamazoo Health Director Dr. E. Freeman Hersey said all symptoms indicated the Mitchell's deaths were caused by Type E botulism poisoning.

The Mitchell died shortly after returning from a northern Michigan trip. Authorities learned they purchased the fish on the way home Tuesday, and that they had stopped in Petoskey.

Agents of the Agriculture Department's Foods and Standards division began checking food sources in the Upper Peninsula and north of Petoskey in the lower peninsula.

Their clue was a brown paper bag, containing remains of the whitefish, which was found in the Mitchell home. Agents were trying to use the manufacturer's markings on the bag to eliminate merchants who buy bags from other manufacturers.

"That's a pretty big area and we can't be sure yet if the fish is the culprit," said Jack Hartzell, foods and standards division supervisor.

He said tests have shown the fish in question was a Great Lakes whitefish weighing three to five pounds.

Runaway Boy Shoots Father

PONTIAC (AP)—A 15-year-old boy ran away from home Thursday after shooting his father in the chest to avoid punishment for skipping school, Oakland County authorities said.

The father, William McConnell, 37, of nearby Orion Township, was reported in critical condition in Pontiac St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Police said McConnell was hit about the heart by a .22 caliber rifle bullet fired by his son, James W.

The boy fled through a rear door of the family home after the shooting, officers said, and apparently still was armed with the rifle.

McConnell told police he had ordered James to wait for him in the house for disciplining because he skipped school Wednesday. When McConnell got home from work, he said he went to a bedroom where the boy was waiting and was shot as he entered the room.

That the Public Health Service is trying out some new muscles is obvious. It has conducted public hearings downstate which pitched for goals which have been posted by the State Water Resources Commission for years. The difference between the agencies are chiefly born of proximity.

Federal Inquiry
A federal agency may bring the might of national authority to the solution of a local problem of resource use or abuse, whereas a state agency like the Water Resources Commission will try for a gentler approach which does not injure an industry and which allows a municipality to plan and finance facilities for waste disposal.

The Public Health Service, which held a conference on the Detroit River last October, set up the Menominee conference on the Menominee and Brule rivers. The Brule and the Paint rivers come together to form the Menominee west of Iron Mountain.

The Iron River gets some acid mine water and discoloration from three mines pumping out groundwater but there are no major problems on the Brule. Iron River and Stambaugh have sewage treatment plants and Caspian is working on its effluent and Gastra has a septic tank and will be discharging its effluent in 1964. On the Michigan side there's nothing reported going into the Brule that's offensive.

Plant Improvement

On the upper Menominee below the Brule, Iron Mountain-Kingsford have a new sewage treatment plant. Norway has no sewage treatment plant and puts its untreated effluent into Sewer Creek above the Sturgeon, another tributary of the Menominee. The Norway sewer discharges into the river five miles below Niagara, where Kimberly Clark Corp. has a big paper mill which it is in process of making larger. It will build a new pulp mill there, probably of neutral sulfite type, to replace its present pulp mill, a sulfite process unit.

Sulfite liquor from this mill is sprayed on an area on the Michigan side for disposal and there is some discharge into the river, but the new mill will reduce fiber loss as well as chemical loss with a complete chemical recovery system.

Joseph Bal, Michigan Water Resources Commission engineer in the U. P., believes that every city with a sewage collection should have a treatment facility. U. P. cities without them are Norway, Newberry, Wakefield, Lake Linden-Hubbell and Crystal Falls.

Standards Changing

Bal said that when he started work for the state in the U. P. in 1949 he called on 12 mines in the Iron River district to check stream pollution by mine pumpage. Today he calls on only three; mining having declined that much.

The new mine plants which benefit low grade iron, he said, create very little water problem at Humboldt, Groveland or Republic. Industry is cooperative with pollution control efforts, he said.

"I have been interested," said Bal, "in water protection standards in Canada because we compete for mining industry. I'm told that up to a point the Canadians are more lenient than the States, but beyond that they're very rough in control of mine wastes causing discoloration and deposit of solids."

"I expect that our statutes (on water use) are going to change."

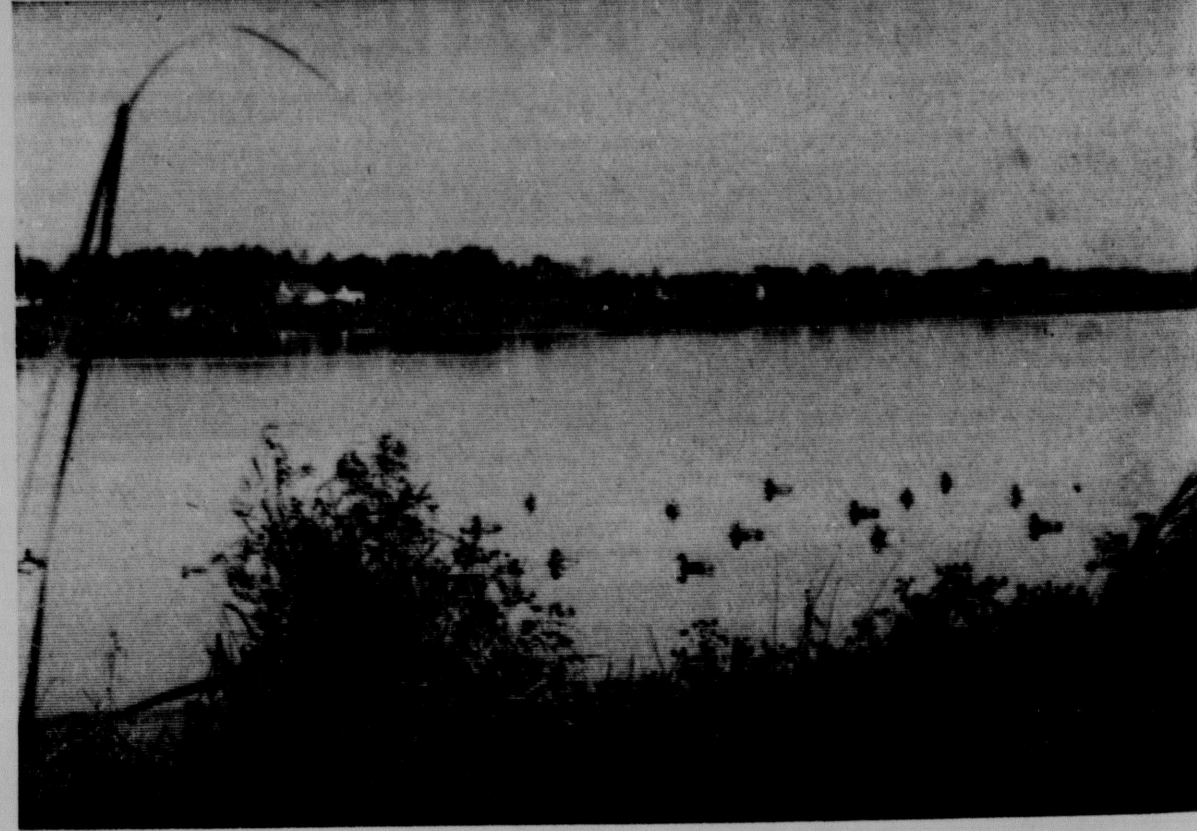

Michigan has no legally fixed standards for water quality. It works under a "reasonable use" practice. The federal government has certain water quality standards and some states have them.

Getting More Teeth

The trend is toward more stringent control of waste disposal in public waters. Many factors are working for this change. The enormity of resource loss like the deteriorating quality of Lake Erie, which is described as a "dying" lake; the increase in outdoor recreational use of public waters, the greater social and cultural conscience of the American people are all affecting regard for natural resources. And the national administration is riding this trend in political strategy.

The result will be that increasingly the municipality, and particularly the industry, disposing of wastes in public waters will have to contend with federal regulation.

In preparation for the Menominee Conference the Public Health Service had a 60-foot boat doing work in the river at Menominee last summer and set up a laboratory in the sewage disposal plant there. At Iron Mountain it set up a trailer laboratory for its river studies. The Michigan Waterways Commission hasn't had a report on the findings yet.

All's tranquil on Portage Marsh, as depicted here, but come noon on Saturday there will be a great hullabaloo and bang-bang as the Michigan waterfowl hunt starts. There are many ducks in the marsh, which sees the greater local concentration of waterfowl hunters. Some of the earliest migrants have gone south, but the diving ducks from the north are beginning to appear in their push southward. (Daily Press Photo)

Gales swept an area almost 300 miles in diameter. The Navy sent aircraft from Guantanamo Bay to shelter as far distant as Jacksonville, Fla. Florida's 14 m.p.h. north-northwesterly tract would eventually carry her into the U.S. mainland. But the westerlies, a huge flow of winds that range up and down the Eastern Seaboard, might blow Florida into the Atlantic. Right now, they begin near Miami, but the Weather Bureau said the picture could change within 12 hours.

In 1954, Hurricane Hazel crossed Haiti and then blasted the U.S. Eastern Seaboard, driving hurricane force winds as far north as Canada.

Florida, sixth storm of the season, exploded Monday just off the coast of Venezuela and battered Tobago with only a few hours notice. The Red Cross said at least 17 were killed and hundreds injured. It estimated damage at $25 million or more.

Czechs Release Five Bishops

VIENNA (AP)—The release of Roman Catholic Archbishop Josef Beran and four other Czechoslovak bishops appears to be another major step by Czechoslovakia's Communist regime to shed its Stalinist past and come to better terms with the Roman Catholic Church.

The Czech government announced Thursday night it had freed the 74-year-old archbishop of Prague and four other bishops from confinement. Two other bishops are believed to be still under arrest.

Archbishop Beran was interned in 1951 for refusing to sign a declaration of loyalty to the Red government. The Vatican learned this year that he was living at a monastery in southern Moravia.

His release left Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty of Hungary the last top Catholic prelate under personal restriction behind the Iron Curtain. With the release of the Czech archbishop, new efforts were expected to resolve the Mindszenty case.

Leads Are Cast For 'Oklahoma'

Escanaba Area High School students and the public will be treated to a performance of the musical "Oklahoma" during the first week in December if everything goes as planned.

Faculty members from the dramatics and music departments announced today the names of students who will sing the major roles for the musical.

They are Kay Kearns as Aunt Eller; Sue Mallmann as Ado Anne; Carol Kaiser as Laurey; Terry Lindstrom as Will Parker; Dale Helms as Curley and Dale Horchner as Jud Fry.

Names of the minor cast members and of the other student participants in the production will be announced shortly. The play will be presented in the auditorium of the new Escanaba Area High School.

Kildare Loses $55,000 Suit

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP)—Poor Dr. Kildare, out of his intern's whites only for a little over a week, got hit by a $55,000 judgment Thursday night in, of all things, a malpractice suit.

Sincere and dedicated Dr. Jim, now a resident physician, really wasn't guilty of anything but stopping his car on a lonely road to help a lady in distress. He delivered her child—which died—by the roadside without any aids except a first aid kit.

Result was the lawsuit—and a courtroom drama that was a real change from the usual Thursday night NBC medical menu. Mixed into the program was a strong editorial in favor of something called a "Good Samaritan Law" in all states.

One of the questions about Perry Como's once-in-a-while NBC variety hours this season was how he was going to get along without his old writers, Goodman Ace and company, now working for comedian Sid Caesar.

It was answered Thursday night. Perry doesn't talk much, but sings and laughs a lot. And he hires an extra large number of big name guest stars. There were June Allyson, George Burns, Cyd Charisse, and Allen Sherman of "My Son the Folk Singer." They turned out a lively hour.

September Level Of Bay Declines

The level of Lake Michigan-Huron and Green Bay-Bay de Noc during September was 1.02 feet below the level of September 1962 and 2.45 feet below the average level since 1860.

The September level was 0.56 feet above the lowest level on record in 1934 and 5.06 feet below the highest level on record in 1876.

The change from August to September was a decrease of 0.25 foot. The average change for the same period is a decrease of 0.18 foot.

Troy Girl And Brother Die In Arizona Climb

ELOY, Ariz. (AP)—The body of a Michigan boy hiker was found today in the rugged Picacho Peak area of southern Arizona. His sister's body was found Thursday.

The discovery marked the end to a hiking trek by 15-year-old Claire (Butch) Carter Jr., and his 13-year-old sister, Starr Lynn.

Dr. Howard Holmes of Eloy said Starr Lynn had died of exposure while on the hike about 4 miles north of Tucson near U.S. 84.

The cause of death of her brother has not been determined.

The youngsters were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Claire A. Carter of Troy, Mich.

State Honors City Employee

The Michigan Department of Health's Col. Edward D. Rich award for meritorious service in public water utilities was presented to Roy Swaby, Escanaba city employee, last night at the meeting of the City Council.

Russell L. Johnson, engineer in charge of the Health Department's Upper Peninsula regional office at Escanaba, made the presentation of the certificate, named for the late Col. Rich who had served as state sanitary engineer from 1911 to 1946. Mayor Harold Vanlerberghe also commended and congratulated Swaby for his efficient public service.

The award goes to persons employed in water departments for 25 or more years and in Escanaba was earlier received by Joseph Petersen and Clarence Touthak.

The Council opened bids for the purchase of a plow and scraper and accepted the low bid of High Equipment Sales, Petoskey for $2,546, lowest of four received, subject to approval by Kenneth Touthak, public works superintendent.

Purchase of 80 tons of rock salt for ice control on streets from the low bidder was approved subject to approval by Purchasing Agent Ed Olson. Lowest of five bids was independent Salt Co., 85 cents per pound for 60 ton car.

The $80 bid of Chris Nicholson of Escanaba, only one received, was accepted by the Council for demolition of a vacant frame dwelling in the safety zone area at the municipal airport.

An amendment to the house trailer ordinance was adopted: Mayor Vanlerberghe issued a proclamation directing attention to Credit Union Week Oct. 14-18, and subject to police approval the approval of an SDD license to Robert Dagenais, the Piggly Wiggly store, 1505 Washington Ave., was approved.

Two library assistants at Carnegie Public Library were placed under city civil service, with upward adjustments of salary to $3,832 annually, plus other benefits similar to the classification of Account clerk 1.

John DeChantal was announced as the employee-elected delegate, with James Olson, alternate, to the Municipal Employees Retirement System. Representing the city administration will be Frank Bourke, city controller, with Milton Embs, administrative assistant, alternate.

The Ladies Auxiliary will meet at the same time and an interesting program will be presented by the ladies who traveled to Washington, D. C., last week. Members of both groups are urged to be at the meetings.

Roy Swaby (left) of the Escanaba utility office receives from Russell L. Johnson, Michigan Department of Health engineer in charge, the Col. Edward D. Rich award for 25 or more years of meritorious service in helping provide the public with a safe and dependable water supply. The presentation was made at the meeting of the City Council last night.

Mike McDonough Fatally Injured

Michael Robert McDonough, 26, structural steel worker, member of a well-known Escanaba family, was fatally injured when he was struck by a crane boom on a construction job in Flint Thursday afternoon.

The accident occurred about 4:30 and the young man died in Hurley Hospital at Flint at 6 p. m. He was employed by the Paragon Bridge and Steel Co., at Flint and recently worked at Escanaba in the construction of the addition to the Bishop Noa Home for Senior Citizens.

The company is erecting the steel framework of an addition to the Chevrolet assembly plant.

Born in Gladstone on Dec. 4, 1936, Mr. McDonough attended local schools and was graduated from Escanaba High School. He was a member of the varsity football squad.

He had resided in Escanaba most of his life, moving to Ishpeming about 2 1/2 years ago.

Switzerland Student Now At Weldum Home

ROCK — Charles Louis Beson, exchangee from Switzerland, has arrived at the Albert Weldum home from Lower Michigan, where he had spent six weeks, living three weeks with each of two different families. Prior to Michigan, he spent over two months with 11 different host families in North Carolina.

He arrived from Switzerland by boat to New York City on May 7. When he leaves the Weldum home Oct. 19, he will return to Washington, D.C. for final consultation and Nov. 7 he will leave from New York City for his homeland.

The IFYE is a 4-H club people-to-people program where people from the States live and work with people in other countries come to the United States for similar visits.

Charles speaks and understands English remarkably well, and has a fine sense of humor. He is interested in everything in our country and contributes much about his country.

He visited the Rock School Wednesday and showed colored slides on Switzerland to the students. He will show slides at the Rock Lions meeting Monday evening at the club house.

Wednesday, Oct. 9, he will show slides at 8 p. m. at the Lions Club after the 4-H business meeting. This showing is open to the public and all interested persons are invited.

New Shift Added At Gibson Plant

GREENVILLE (AP) — Gibson Refrigerator spokesman Nick Natiello said Thursday 100 of 300 new employees being hired here for a second shift are expected to be made permanent on the payroll.

Hiring interviews started Monday at Gibson, a division of Hupp Corp., which plans to start the second shift later this month to meet increased orders.

Natiello, Gibson director of personnel and community relations, said the new workers will bring to 1,800 the total employed here and at the air conditioner plant in nearby Belding.

Federal Govt. Moves To Rule Rivers Of U.P.

By JEAN WORTH

The public hearing called by the U. S. Public Health Service for Nov. 6 in Goodfellowship Hall, Menominee on pollution of the Menominee River has stirred considerable interest and nowhere more than in the Michigan Water Resources Commission.

The Commission is the state agency charged with control of the pollution, and while the Menominee is interstate waters, being the border of Wisconsin, Michigan obviously has an undivided half interest in the stream, which is the largest river of the Upper Peninsula.

The Michigan Water Resources Commission has been making studies of the Menominee River for years and has what must be the greatest knowledge of the condition of its waters, unless the federal government's recent interest has made it more knowledgeable than the state about the stream.

Federalization Trend?
The Commission appears not to regard the Menominee as a serious problem area and must be awaiting the Public Health Service hearing with wonder about the motivation. The public interest turns on this point, too.

The questions being asked most in the state about the inquiry are:

1. Is this inquiry tied in with federal efforts to legislate higher standards of quality for public waters?

2. Does it augur a new relationship in which the federal government will play a stronger role in the control of natural resources?

Bag Only Clue To Poisoning

LANSING (AP) — Officials had only a paper bag as a clue and a wide area of Northern Michigan to search today for the source of a smoked whitefish suspected in the food poisoning deaths of a Kalamazoo couple.

Meanwhile, technicians conducted tests to determine whether the deaths Wednesday of Chester O. Mitchell, 64, and his wife, Blanche, 62, were caused by Type E botulism.

Dr. Ralph Costlow, a microbiologist at Michigan State University, said if the whitefish contained Type E Botulism bacteria, there may be more dangerous fish at the same source.

Kalamazoo Health Director Dr. E. Freeman Hersey said all symptoms indicated the Mitchell's deaths were caused by Type E botulism poisoning.

The Mitchell's died shortly after returning from a northern Michigan trip. Authorities learned they purchased the fish on the way home Tuesday, and that they had stopped in Petoskey.

Agents of the Agriculture Department's Foods and Standards division began checking food sources in the Upper Peninsula and north of Petoskey in the lower peninsula.

Their clue was a brown paper bag, containing remains of the whitefish, which was found in the Mitchell home. Agents were trying to use the manufacturer's markings on the bag to eliminate merchants who buy bags from other manufacturers.

"That's a pretty big area and we can't be sure yet if the fish is the culprit," said Jack Hartzell, foods and standards division supervisor.

He said tests have shown the fish in question was a Great Lakes whitefish weighing three to five pounds.

Runaway Boy Shoots Father

PONTIAC (AP)—A 15-year-old boy ran away from home Thursday after shooting his father in the chest to avoid punishment for skipping school, Oakland County authorities said.

The father, William McConnell, 37, of nearby Orion Township, was reported in critical condition in Pontiac St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Police said McConnell was hit above the heart by a .22 caliber rifle bullet fired by his son, James W.

The boy fled through a rear door of the family home after the shooting, officers said, and apparently still was armed with the rifle.

McConnell told police he had ordered James to wait for him in the house for disciplining because he skipped school Wednesday. When McConnell got home from work, he said he went to a bedroom where the boy was waiting and was shot as he entered the room.

That the Public Health Service is trying out some new muscles is obvious. It has conducted public hearings downstate which pitched for goals which have been posted by the State Water Resources Commission for years. The differences between the agencies are chiefly born of proximity.

Federal Inquiry

A federal agency may bring the might of national authority to the solution of a local problem of resource use or abuse, whereas a state agency like the Water Resources Commission will try for a gentler approach which does not injure an industry and which allows a municipality to plan and finance facilities for waste disposal.

The Public Health Service, which held a conference on the Detroit River last October, set up the Menominee conference on the Menominee and Brule rivers. The Brule and the Paint rivers come together to form the Menominee west of Iron Mountain.

The Iron River gets some acid mine water and discoloration from three mines pumping out groundwater but there are no major problems on the Brule. Iron River and Stambaugh have sewage treatment plants and Caspian is working on its effluent and Gastra has a septic tank and will be discharging its effluent in 1964. On the Michigan side there's nothing reported going into the Brule that's offensive.

Plant Improvement

On the upper Menominee below the Brule, Iron Mountain-Kingsford have a new sewage treatment plant. Norway has no sewage treatment plant and puts its untreated effluent into Sewer Creek above the Sturgeon, another tributary of the Menominee. The Norway sewer discharges into the river five miles below Niagara, where Kimberly Clark Corp. has a big paper mill which it is in process of making larger. It will build a new pulping mill there, probably of neutral sulfite type, to replace its present pulp mill, a sulfite process unit.

Sulfite liquor from this mill is sprayed on an area on the Michigan side for disposal and there is some discharge into the river, but the new mill will reduce fiber loss as well as chemical loss with a complete chemical recovery system.

Joseph Bal, Michigan Water Resources Commission engineer in the U. P., believes that every city with a sewage collection should have a treatment facility. U. P. cities without them are Norway, Newberry, Wakefield, Lake Linden-Hubbell and Crystal Falls.

Standards Changing
Bal said that when he started work for the state in the UP in 1949 he called on 12 mines in the Iron River district to check stream pollution by mine pumpage. Today he calls on only three; mining having declined that much.

The new mine plants which beneficiate low grade iron, he said, create very little water problem at Humboldt, Groveland or Republic. Industry is cooperative with pollution control efforts, he said.

"I have been interested," said Bal, "in water protection standards in Canada because we compete for mining industry. I'm told that up to a point the Canadians are more lenient than the States, but beyond that they're very rough in control of mine wastes causing discoloration and deposit of solids."

"I expect that our statutes (on water use) are going to change."

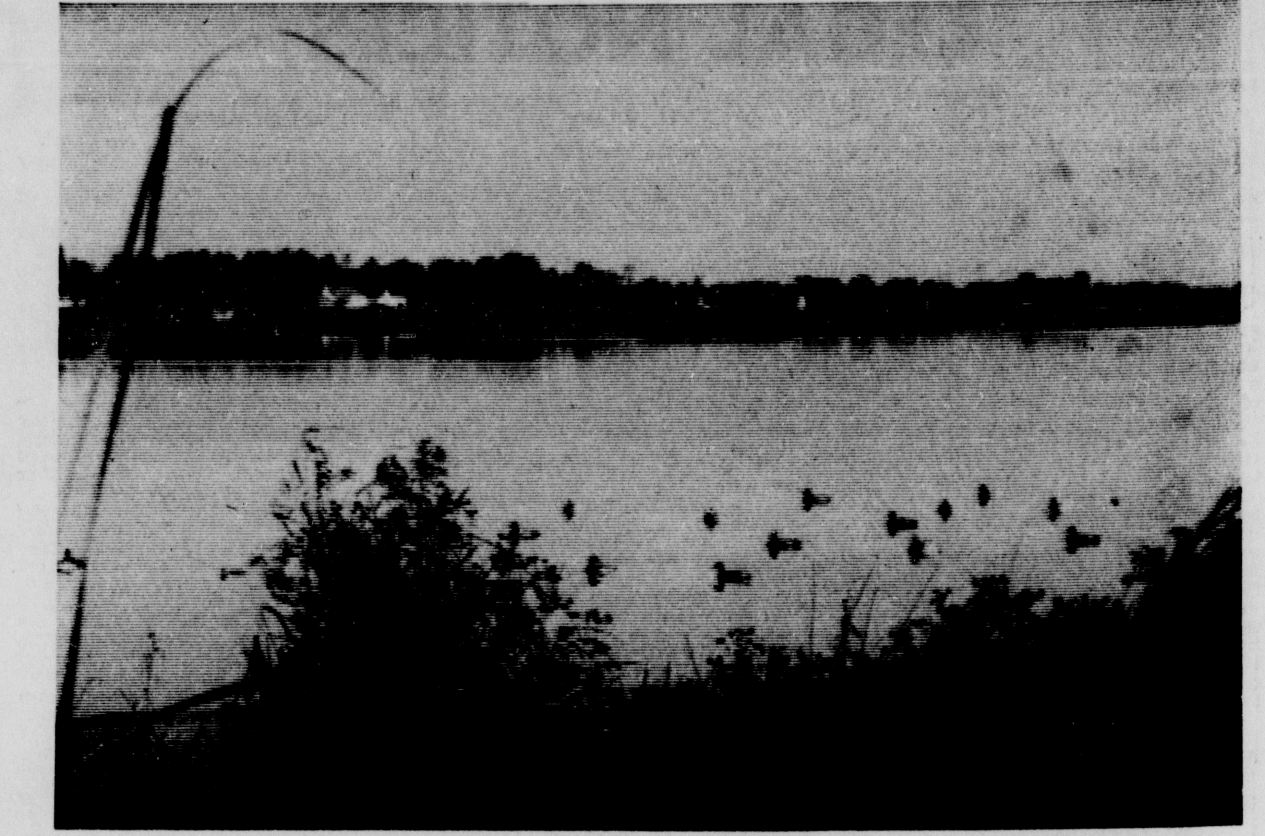

Michigan has no legally fixed standards for water quality. It works under a "reasonable use" practice. The federal government has certain water quality standards and some states have them.

The trend is toward more stringent control of waste disposal in public waters. Many factors are working for this change. Troy Girl And Brother Die In Arizona Climb

ELOY, Ariz. (AP)—The body of a Michigan boy hiker was found today in the rugged Picacho Peak area of southern Arizona. His sister's body was found Thursday.

The discovery marked the end to a hiking trek by 15-year-old Claire (Butch) Carter Jr., and his 13-year-old sister, Starr Lynn.

Dr. Howard Holmes of Eloy said Starr Lynn had died of exposure while on the hike about 4 miles north of Tucson near U.S. 84.

The cause of death of her brother has not been determined.

The youngsters were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Claire A. Carter of Troy, Mich.
